WARRING ARMIES SUSTAIN HEAVY LOSSES

THOUSANDS WATCHED VOLUNTEERS DEPART

Five Hundred Infantrymen
Sailed to Join Overseas
Force at Valcartier Camp

WHOLE CITY JOINED IN ROUSING SEND-OFF

Flowers Thrown as Brave
Soldier Boys Embarked on Princess Sophia

Victoria bade farewell to her soldier boys this morning. Thirty thousand men, women and children, weeping and cheering, jammed the down-town streets and open spaces. Another ten thousand waved their farewells along the route of march from the camps to the city. Such a scene had never been witnessed in Victoria before.

Five hundred young men, averaging probably 23 or 24 years of age, sailed on the S. S. Princess Sophia, bravely eager to fight in defence of the British empire and its allies. Five hundred went, and nobody who saw them failed to realize that perhaps not five hundred would return. Every man who departed went voluntarily, not a man was forced. It was this that stirred the hearts of the multitude of well-wishers and the cheers that went up from the throng as the volunteers passed by had a deeper note than cheering usually has.

The overseas contingents could be distinguished from the escorts by the fact that they bore no arms. These were supplied to them at the Valcartier camp. Two hundred and thirty members of the 88th regiment of Victoria Fusiliers and 270 members of the 50th Regiment of Highlanders, as well as small detachments of the Corps of Guides and Signalling Corps comprised the offering of this city to the field forces of the empire. In addition 70 men of the 5th regiment, C. G. A., left two days ago.

The volunteers were escorted to the steamer by the other members of their respective regiments and a squad of British sailors. The 88th Fusiliers, headed by their band, reached the city from their Esquimalt camp before the others, but not five minutes behind them came the Highlanders with their pipes. The bands played as never before and the martial music brought to the surface those deep emotions which stirred the depths of every heart. The people swarmed out into the streets as the troops marched by. Men and women seized the hands of the volunteers and bade them God speed.

Many incidents marked the procession through the streets. The troops reached the city ahead of the tank at which Mayor Stewart asked the stores to close, but at the first sound of the band music shop-keepers shut their doors and everybody went outside. At the Empress hotel several hundred school children, representatives of every school in the city, sang patriotic songs and the soldiers saluted as they marched past. Moving picture and other cameras were stationed at the corner of Belleville street in positions of advantage to get views of the soldiers crossing the Causeway and turning the corner. At Menzies and Belleville streets many people had bouquets which they showered upon the heads of the volunteers, who seized them as souvenirs. All along the route men cheered, women waved their handkerchiefs and automobiles blew their horns.

The escorting troops halted in Belleville street and stood aside while the volunteers marched past them to the gangway and filed two deep to the boat. The scenes in front of the C. P. R. ticket office at the entrance to the bridge were beyond description. Mothers and wives who had forced their way to the front rank of the spectators flung their arms about their loved ones to take a last embrace before they went to the battle line. Men exchanged handshakes and it was noted that the smiles were worn by the departing soldiers, not by their friends left behind.

The Princess Sophia was gallily bedecked with flags and as she sailed sharp at 10.30 o'clock the soldiers who had lined the rails on every deck sent cheer after cheer back across the water to the crowds on the docks. The boat and factory whistles all over the waterfront tooted full blast for fully ten minutes while the steamer slowly backed around and headed for the harbor mouth. Chords at the Songhees reserve, Laurel Point and at the outer wharf cheered and waved at the soldiers as the Sophia sailed past those points.

As the crowd slowly wound its way up town many women wept and few men smiled.

NOT WORRYING ABOUT ADVANCE BY RUSSIANS

Report Also Says Panic in London and Crisis in French Cabinet

Berlin, Aug. 28.—By wireless to the Associated Press, via Sayville, L. I., headquarters has issued an official report that the western enemy everywhere has been defeated and is in full retreat, after nine days' fighting. General Von Kluck says the Berlin report, defeated the British army at Maubeuge, renewed the attack to-day and threatened to surround it. General Von Buelow and Von Hausen, says the report, completely defeated the Franco-Belgium forces, about eight corps, between Sambre and Namur and the Meuse in several days' battle and are now pursuing them to eastward of Maubeuge. The attack on Maubeuge was opened by the Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurttemberg, who defeated and pursued the enemy across the Semois and the Meuse.

The German crown prince is advancing towards the Meuse and the Crown Prince of Bavaria has repulsed the attack from Nancy and the south. General Von Herffingen continues in pursuit southward through the Vosges. Four Belgian divisions attacking Tuesday and Wednesday from Antwerp have been repulsed, losing guns and many prisoners. The Belgian population generally participated in fighting, necessitating severe reprisal measures. The corps of lost reservists has been called out to guard communications.

It is difficult to describe the fierce exultation of all classes in Berlin over the news of the Russian reverses at Maubeuge, as announced officially from army headquarters. The German resentment against Britain for having injected herself into the conflict and for calling in Japan, is so deep that the news of the surrender of the British army on the continent has been received with more joy and satisfaction in Berlin than tidings of the fall of Paris would have occasioned. It is reported here to-day that a portion of the British forces is at present shut up in Maubeuge.

The Berlin population, inspired by the announcement from military headquarters that the ironing is making its way round the French, British and Belgian forces from Cambrai to Ypres, exhibits little concern regarding the situation on the eastern frontier of Germany. It has full confidence that the task on the west line will be speedily finished and that victorious armies will then make short work clearing German soil of Russians.

Washington, Aug. 28.—The French and British north armies on the Sambre and Meuse rivers have been surrounded by German troops on all sides as a result of the latest fighting, says a wireless report from Berlin to the German embassy. The message adds that the French east army has been partly driven from the south. This has prevented communication between the French east and north armies, while all German armies are in contact. From Cambrai through upper Alsace German cavalry has advanced to Ostend.

The appearance of a Zeppelin airship at Antwerp, the message continues, caused a panic in London. Reports to Berlin from Copenhagen and Stockholm announce there is a grave crisis in the French government. The Spanish ambassador at Vienna has called the situation in France very serious.

The Danish colony in Berlin has warned foreigners to beware of fictitious news. A meeting to-day of all foreign colonies in Berlin was held at which a resolution was passed, thanking the German government for the kind treatment of foreigners and to express admiration for the wonderful spirit and enthusiasm shown by Berlin people.

Civilians of the Belgian town of Louvain made a perilous attack on German troops while fighting. Louvain was punished by the destruction of the city.

FIVE OF CREW LAND

London, Aug. 28.—Five members of the crew of the Scotch fishing craft which was sunk by floating mines off Blyth, were landed at Hull to-day.

Fortifications at Namur Still Held by Belgians

Paris, Aug. 28.—The Havas News agency declares to-day that two motorcyclists attached to the Belgian army, who arrived in Paris this morning from Namur, declare that the forts at Namur are still holding out and that they are not even ready to surrender.

BULLETINS

DESTROYER SUNK

London, Aug. 28.—A Central News Dispatch from Brindisi, Italy, says that a British destroyer sank an Austrian destroyer off Corfu after a ten-minute fight.

AUSTRIA FIGHTS BELGIUM

London, Aug. 28.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Rome says that a dispatch received here from Vienna states that Austria has declared war on Belgium.

NURSES KILLED

Washington, Aug. 28.—France has submitted to the United States and other neutral governments a sworn statement that after an engagement at Moncel, a German officer fired on three Red Cross nurses, killing two and wounding the third.

SEIZE JAPANESE MONEY

London, Aug. 28.—A dispatch received here from Amsterdam says that the Telegraaf, a local newspaper, declares that the German exchequer has taken steps to seize all Japanese balances in German banks.

FLOTILLA MEETS TYPHOON

Tokio, Aug. 28.—The commander of the first Japanese squadron has reported to the navy department that his torpedo flotilla ran into a typhoon. The boats were scattered and five men lost their lives. The location of the fleet is not given.

FIRST CANADIAN SHOT

Montreal, Aug. 28.—Sixteen-year-old Gordon Bates, private in the Fifth Royal Highlanders, was shot in the eye and killed to-day by an unseen assailant while on sentry duty at the canal at Soulanges. Soldiers at Soulanges guarding the canal have been fired on repeatedly during the last few days.

BRITISH NEAR MONS HOLD THEIR GROUND REPULSING GERMANS

London, Aug. 28.—A dispatch to the Express from Lille announces that the advance guard of the Germans is now at Pont a Marq and Marchiennes. "This represents," says the Lille correspondent, "a slight further advance movement from Cysoing, where they were reported on Monday. There was heavy fighting at Marchiennes Thursday morning, when the German's broke through the French lines."

"The allies acquitted however, and succeeded in pushing the German advance forces back on their main body. The German advance forces were also repulsed at Pont a Marq."

There also was fighting at Tournai, where the Germans were repulsed. It is believed here the Germans have occupied Valenciennes, but the British are reported to have driven back the enemy near Mons.

DOMINION BANK DONATES.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 28.—The Dominion Bank has donated $25,000 to the Canadian national patriotic fund.

CANADA'S MARTIAL SPIRIT IS PRAISED

Dominion Hospital for Wounded is Proposed by Canadians in London

London, Aug. 28.—The Morning Post today has an appreciative article upon Canada's military contingent, in which complimentary references are made to the successful efforts in raising the Dominion's military efficiency. It concludes: "One hundred thousand Canadians have volunteered for active service, the list being singularly inclusive, comprising all sorts, from millionaires' sons to small wage earners. It is a Britisher who writes this and Britishers should remember that if a like alacrity had been shown here the half million volunteers required would already be forthcoming."

The Canadian association here dealing with philanthropic energies arising from the war are discussing a proposal to erect a hospital for the use of the sick and wounded among the Canadian contingent. Yesterday considerable time was spent in attempting to reconcile the different suggestions. Members of the Canada Masonic lodge here, who originated the hospital idea, are anxious that the effort should proceed under the auspices of the order of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem. Others interested think the proposed hospital should be placed at the disposal of the authorities without any restrictions. A deputation was appointed to consult the war office on this point and will report later.

There are some who proposed building a hospital with one hundred beds, which would cost $20,000 to maintain for one year. This has been turned down. The proposal now is for a fifty-bed hospital.

Some parties consider that there is no necessity to incur the expense of building a special hospital, considering that so many large houses have been offered for the purpose in different parts of the country. All these points have still to be considered.

The number of houses in all sorts of places throughout the kingdom, both convenient and utterly impossible, which have been offered, is perfectly bewildering and warrants the belief that if all the offers were accepted every wounded Britisher would have almost a ward to himself.

FOOTBALLERS' BRIGADE FOR KITCHENER'S ARMY

Association to Decide if 7,000 Trained Men Shall Charge Enemy Instead of One Another.

London, Aug. 28.—The incorporation of a brigade of football players into Lord Kitchener's new army is the latest proposal to be made in England. Both the war office and the Football association have received it with considerable enthusiasm.

The Football association has a membership of 7,000 trained athletes who, it is suggested, might be better employed in charging the Germans on the battlefield than in charging each other on the football field. The council of the association is to hold a meeting on Monday to decide if the 7,000 men shall be released from their present engagements and the football fields turned into drill grounds.

More Than 200,000 Men Are Hurled at British Formation

London, Aug. 28.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons to-day that British troops in Wednesday's fighting were exposed to the attack of five German army corps. The losses on both sides, he said, were great.

Premier Asquith said: "We have heard from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary force, that in the fighting which took place between his army and the enemy on Wednesday, August 26, and which appears from the French official reports to have been in the neighborhood of Cambrai and Leicateau, our troops were exposed to the attack of five German army corps; two divisions of cavalry and a reserve corps of cavalry, and a second cavalry division—more than 200,000 men.

"Our second corps in the fourth division bore the brunt of the cavalry attack, while our first army corps was attacked on the right and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

"I regret to say our casualties were heavy, but the exact numbers have not yet been made known. The behavior of our troops was, in all respects, admirable."

General Joffre, French commander-in-chief, in a message published here this morning, conveys his congratulations and his sincere thanks for the protection effectively given by our army to the French flank.

The official bureau says that Earl Kitchener has received a telegram from Sir John French stating that the latter feels strongly the necessity of giving full details of the casualties as soon as possible. He hopes to telegraph some of them immediately. It has been impossible to send them up to the present.

Allies' Artillery Better Than That of Germans.

The Times' Rouen correspondent, describing the battle of Mons from the accounts of the British wounded, says: "The British artillery was magnificent, but there was not enough of it in comparison with the enemy's. There is universal testimony that gun for gun, both the British and French are superior to the Germans.

"The allies' shells burst without fail. The German gunners find the range but their shells frequently fail to burst and not infrequently miscarry and fall short. The sheer weight of their massed batteries carried them forward.

"Their infantry also advanced in close order and offered a magnificent mark. Their losses, beyond question, are greater than those of the allies but so, unfortunately, were their numbers. They came and came again. All Sunday the British held their ground. On Monday morning came the order to retire."

ROUMANIAN KING IS ABOUT TO ABDICATE

Rome, Aug. 28.—A news dispatch from Bucharest states that King Charles of Roumania is seriously ill. According to the dispatch he will shortly abdicate.

British marines in force are now in control of Ostend, says a dispatch from Ostend to the Times. They continued landing all day, and several quick-firers were brought ashore, the work of disembarkation proceeding with precision.

The British officers assert they have not landed sooner because of objections by local authorities who held a meeting in the town hall, where several prominent local officials objected to the British landing on the ground that it would frighten the hotel visitors.

The fighting at Snaeskerke on Tuesday changed the minds of these objectors and the city fathers asked the British government to send marines.

The Times' military correspondent in discussing the situation on the French frontier, says: "The news that the allies have retired to the line from Lecateau to Cambrai shows that active defence of the line from Lille to Maubeuge has been abandoned, and that these two fortresses have been left temporarily to look after themselves.

"The necessity for holding the interval between the Scheldt and Cambrai and the Sambre near Lecateau is probably due to the need for holding Mezieres. Once this point goes, or the Meuse between Mezieres and Verdun is penetrated by the invaders the whole system of frontier defence of Eastern France breaks down, and if the field armies are inferior to the enemy nothing remains but retreat.

"If the line there is skillfully defended it should be most difficult to penetrate Laferre, Laon and Rheims, which are provided with permanent fortifications. But we are not at that point yet.

"The line from Lecateau to Cambrai must expect an enveloping attack on the north, but this attempt will probably fail.

"We have every right to expect success to-day, but if we do not win a decisive victory we must abandon our bases on the coast north of the mouth of the Somme and shift further south, either to Havre or Cherbourg.

"If we are unable to resume the offensive and beat back the German attack from the north one consequence will be that the Germans will establish aircraft stations along the Straits of Dover and thereby be able to keep us under constant observation.

"We must meet this by a counter attack with searchlights and anti-aircraft guns. Sportsmen should make up practice parties for airship shooting.

"The Germans will also mount their heaviest guns at any port they seize and once more their will be an army encamped on the heights of Boulogne.

"Let us, however, be grateful for one mercy. The international financiers, doctrinaires, and lunatics who wished to fit us out with a channel tunnel are silenced for good and all."

LATE NIGHT WAR NEWS

FIRST GERMAN WAR NEWS PICTURE—A representative of the Record Press, 29 Fetter Lane, London, E. A German dirigible is seen escorting German ships at the mouth of the Elbe river, where is located one terminal of the Kiel canal.

REAR-ADMIRAL MOORE IS SECOND SEA LORD

Appointments Made in British Navy Since War Was Declared

London, Aug. 28.—With the approval of his majesty the King, Rear-Admiral G. H. W. Moore, C. V. O., C. B., third sea lord on the board of admiralty, hoisted his flag in H. M. S. Invincible on August 15, and was succeeded as third sea lord by Rear-Admiral Frederick C. T. Tudor, C. B., the then director of naval ordnance.

Capt. Morgan Singer, A. D. C., R. N., has been selected to succeed Rear-Admiral Tudor as director of naval ordnance and torpedoes, and took charge on August 18.

It is further announced that Rear-Admiral Sir David Beatty, K. C. B., M. V. O., D. S. O., commanding the First battle cruiser squadron, has received the acting rank of vice-admiral.

The following flag officers have hoisted their flags in ships of the Second and Third fleets, the appointments dating from August 1:

Vice-Admiral the Hon. Sir A. E. Bethell, K. C. B., K. C. M. G., in H. M. S. Prince George, as vice-admiral commanding battleships of Third fleet.

Rear-Admiral William L. Grant, C. B., in H. M. S. Drake.

Rear-Admiral H. L. Tottenham, C. B., in H. M. S. Abdon.

Rear-Admiral D. R. S. De Chair, C. B., M. V. O., in H. M. S. Crescent.

Rear-Admiral H. H. Campbell, C. V. O., in H. M. S. Pachante.

Rear-Admiral R. S. Phipps Hornby, C. M. G., M. V. O., in H. M. S. Doris.

The new searchlight of the German army is mounted on a telescoping mast, by which it can be quickly raised to a considerable height. In horizontal position the mast is short, but turning a crank swings it to the vertical in trunions, and another crank draws out the several tube sections, giving a great increase in length.

GERMAN PEOPLE ARE DOUBTFUL OF REPORTS

Fact That No Reverses Are Announced in Berlin Makes Them Suspicious

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—(By Adolf Hansen)—I have interviewed a Danish merchant who arrived yesterday morning from Berlin, where he had been for the last few days. He gave me the following account:

"The railways and other state concerns are again working with comparative smoothness, but a change has taken place among the people. The more intelligent of the German people are beginning to have feelings of suspicion owing to the fact that the authorities have so far admitted no reverses."

The merchant added that a German newspaper giving an account of the loss of an Austrian cruiser was forbidden to be circulated in Germany for three days. In Berlin, he said, the people were all in fairly high spirits, as they had made up their minds that Germany was going to win, but the fact that trains from the direction of the Russian frontier are bringing in many wounded men has caused much alarm and has deeply impressed them. Trains from Königsberg are arriving crowded with fugitives, who state that all civilians have been recommended to leave the country.

The conditions are almost normal everywhere, and the police, with Prussian strictness, are seeing that nobody takes selfish advantage of circumstances. To-day I learned that a banker of Berlin has been arrested for usury. Trade has experienced a worse shock than had been expected, and commercial circles seem to have the view that even in a case of a German victory, Germany's commerce will be hard hit for many years to come, especially in regarding its hold in foreign markets.

Several big German firms, for example, Stollwerks, the chocolate makers, are now sending through their Scandinavian connections daily telegraphic reports of German victories.

London, Aug. 28.—The Marconi Wireless Telegraph company last night received the following official dispatch: "Field Marshal von der Goltz, who has been trusted with the administration of that part of Belgium in the possession of Germany, has left for Belgium to enter upon his duties as governor-general."

"The civil administration has been entrusted to the president of the government board of Aix-la-Chapelle Baron von Sandt, on whom the title of excellency has been conferred."

"The King of Bavaria has left for the western theatre of war."

"The former consul-general at Tangier reports that the bulk of German residents in that city have fled to Cadiz, Spain."

"German aeroplanes yesterday passed over the frontier forts at Antwerp. Attacks upon them were without result."

POSSESSIONS GERMANY MAY LOSE DURING WAR

Colonies No Help to Kaiser as British Overseas Do-

London, Aug. 28.—Germany will be fortunate if at the end of the war she is left with any of the colonial possessions she has been so feverishly anxious to expand. Already one has fallen into British hands without the expenditure of a shot.

It is officially announced by the admiralty that, acting on instructions from the secretary of state for the colonies, the British forces in the Gold Coast colony seized the port of Lome, in German Togoland, on the west coast of Africa. No resistance was offered, and South Togoland up to 75 miles north from the coast was simultaneously surrendered.

Information has been received at the French embassy in London to the effect that the French also have entered Togoland by way of Dahomey.

Togoland is part of the Gold Coast of West Africa and lies between British and French possessions. Altogether it has an area of 33,659 square miles and a population of about 1,000,000. Although the coast is unhealthy, there is a rich country behind, and it was the first German colony to dispense with an imperial subsidy to its upkeep. Cotton growing has been developed since 1900. Lome, the port town, was entirely created by the Germans and has a population of 5,000. A railway runs some distance inland.

Although the smallest of the German African possessions, Lome might have been of considerable service as a coaling and refuge station. Germany's remaining colonies are:

	Area	Population
	Square Miles.	Thousands.
Kameruns	350,000	2,500,000
German S. W. Africa	322,450	93,000
German E. Africa	384,000	7,054,000
Kiao Chau (Tsingtao)	200	60,000
Polynesia	70,000	131,283
German New Guinea	200,000	200,000
Bismarck Archipelago	4,000	53,000
Solomon Island (part)	280	55,204
Caroline, Pelew and Ladrone Islands	160	15,000
Marshall Island	1,000	34,500

Unlike Germany's exposed and weak colonies, the British dominions overseas are contributing strongly as helpers of the motherland in the war. Official announcement is made that the admiralty has received and accepted the following offers:

From the Dominion of Canada: The cruisers Niobe and Rainbow as commerce protectors; an expeditionary force of 20,000 men and such further men as may be required to keep it at strength.

From the Commonwealth of Australia: The Royal Australian navy to be used as the admiralty require and an expeditionary force of 20,000 men, to sail at once.

From New Zealand: The New Zealand naval force and 8,000 officers and men.

From the women of Canada: A hospital ship, proffered through the Duchess of Connaught.

ASQUITH PROMISES TO GIVE OUT NEWS PROMPTLY

Prime Minister Recognizes Anxiety of Relatives and Promises What Relief Possible.

London, Aug. 28.—The protests by British newspapers against the censorship which keeps the country in utter darkness regarding the military operations, received attention at Premier Asquith's hands last night.

Replying to a suggestion by James Hogg, M. P. for Edinburgh, in the house of commons, that a trained journalist should be put in charge of the censorship, the premier said:

"The government and the military authorities recognize to the full the strain which is put on the public, but more particularly the relatives of those in active service, by scarcity of information from the front, and they will do all in their power to relieve the strain. The principle upon which information is given to the public is that all information which can be given without prejudice to the public interests shall be given fully and at once. This has been and will be done."

FRANCIS JOSEPH THINKS EVERYTHING ALL RIGHT

Words Fail to Express What Moves
Aged Monarch in Message

London, Aug. 28.—A German official wireless dispatch was received last night by the Marconi Wireless company. It reads as follows: "Emperor William has received the following telegram from the Emperor of Austria: 'Victory after victory. God is with us. He will be with you also. I must sincerely congratulate you, dear friend, also the young heroes, your dear son, the Crown Prince, and the Prince Rupprecht, as well as the incomparably brave German army. Words fail to express what moves me, and with me my army in these days of world's history.'"

INDIAN POTENTATES OFFERING SERVICES

Simla, Aug. 28.—Practically every Indian ruling chief has offered his military and financial resources for the service of the Empire.

An urgent inquiry has been addressed to the viceroy by the ruler of the ancient state of Rewa, who writes: "What orders from His Majesty for me and my troops?"

This is typical of the spirit which prevails everywhere.

The Maharajah Sindha, of Gwalior and the Begum of Bhopal are discussing the equipment of a hospital ship. The Punjab chief's association has passed a resolution expressing the determination of the Punjab aristocracy to serve Britain in the war as well as in peace. The offer of Malik Umar Haquai Khan, on behalf of the Mohammedans, to serve in any capacity that the government of India may think fit, exemplifies the attitude of the great mass of educated Indians in British territory.

That Won't end Corns

That liquid, that plaster—based on old ideas—won't terminate a corn.

Don't try it. Your druggist has a new way—the scientific Blue-jay. It is so efficient, so easy, so painless that it now removes a million corns a month.

The way is this: Apply Blue-jay at night—it takes only a moment. From that time on the corn will cease to pain.

Forget the corn for two days, then simply lift it out.

Blue-jay loosens the corn. In 48 hours you can remove it without any pain or soreness. Folks have proved that, up to date, on sixty million corns.

Stop paring corns. Stop the old-time treatments. End your corns forever in this simple, easy way.

LIVED LONG IN PROVINCE

John McKay, Old-timer of Columbia River District, Passed Away at Wilmer; Lived in Victoria.

An old-timer of the province passed away on Tuesday at Wilmer, B. C., in the person of John McKay, who, with his wife, had been visiting for some weeks with his daughter, Mrs. Lionel Peake, at that place.

The late Mr. McKay, who was in his ninetieth year, was a native of (Cavendish, Prince Edward Island, and with his young wife—before her marriage Miss Johnson of Long River, New London—came out to Brandon, Man., in the early days, being among the founders of that prairie town. From Brandon they moved to Moosejaw, and from Moosejaw to Atholmer, in the Columbia River valley, where they arrived some time before the C. P. R. was built through the mountains. All old-timers in the district knew the family well, and there was general regret when Mr. McKay retired from farming about fifteen years ago and removed, with his wife and daughter, to Victoria, leaving a son, J. L. McKay, in charge of the old homestead. It was at the home of this daughter, now Mrs. Peake, that he passed away this week, having gone there with Mrs. McKay early in the summer for a change.

His widow, two sons, David and J. L. McKay, and two daughters, one of whom is Mrs. Peake, survive him, as well as many grandchildren. Fourteen years ago the old couple suffered greatly through the loss of their daughter, Barbara, wife of Hon. J. H. Ross, commissioner to the Yukon, who was afterwards called to the senate, her baby and a granddaughter, child of their son David, then living at Dawson.

He was an esteemed member of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, where the family had attended for many years.

FIELD MARSHALL WRITES IN SOLDIERS' BIBLES

London, Aug. 28.—The British nation at heart is still profoundly religious. The naval and military missions are distributing individual pocket bibles to every man in the army and fleet. Each bears this inscription for every soldier and sailor, written by Lord Roberts, "Fighting Bobs," the idol of the British army.

"I ask you to put your trust in God. He will watch over you and strengthen you. You will find in this little book guidance when you are in health, comfort when you are in sickness, and strength when you are in adversity." (Signed) "ROBERTS, F. M."

CANADIANS GOING TO EUROPEAN TERRITORY

War Office Asks That Communication Line Be Sent With First Contingent

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—The British war office has asked the Canadian government to provide a complete line of communication as well as an army division. This is taken to mean that it is the intention to send the Canadians direct to France and that the expedition will be kept intact. The additional forces will consist of 1,578 men, 18 horses, 378 horses, 166 motor transports and 155 wagons.

There will be plenty of men to pick from at Valcartier. Colonel Hughes expects there will be over 30,000 men on the mobilization ground. The last of the infantry are on their way, and the artillery starts moving to-day.

"We can't keep the men away," said Colonel Hughes, in commenting upon the numbers who want to go to the front. "There are far more officers than are needed, and colonels enough to handle two contingents. The men who do not go on the first contingent will be formed into a second reserve force. Most of these men will be sent to relieve the volunteers doing duty at Halifax, Sydney and along the canals. This will give them time to train, so that if there is a call, as undoubtedly there will be, for a second contingent, they will be well trained and ready to start."

The first detachment of the Princess Patricia, Light Infantry, consisting of twenty-five men and an officer, left for Montreal last night. The remainder of the troop, aggregating 1,099 men, will leave for Montreal this afternoon. The regiment is now complete, and in the opinion of experts, is one of the finest which has ever left Canada for active service abroad.

A number of artillery appointments to the artillery unit of the campaign contingent for Europe have been announced. To command the 60-pound or heavy battery of the artillery unit, the following have been provisionally appointed: Major G. E. Hall, Montreal, commanding; Captain C. A. Irving, Esquimaux; Lieutenant J. A. Ryan, Montreal; G. H. Reid, Peterboro; and J. L. Apedalle, Montreal. Lieutenant Ross Webb, Montreal, has been provisionally appointed to the heavy battery ammunition column.

The division ammunition column will have the following officers: Lieutenant J. J. Penhale, Sherbrooke, commanding; Major C. E. Long, Ottawa, adjutant; No. 1 section, Major E. W. Leonard, London; Lieutenant C. H. Garland, Ottawa; and Lieutenant H. S. Mathews, Peterboro. No. 2 section, Captain E. C. Sarrett, Kingston; Lieutenant J. S. B. Macpherson, Ottawa; and Lieutenant G. Dowdley, Ottawa. No. 3 section, Captain R. S. Hayes, St. John; Lieutenant Parker, Ottawa; and Lieutenant D. H. Storms, Hamilton. No. 4 section, Major C. F. Magee, St. John; and Lieutenant C. F. Inches, St. John. To the ammunition part at base: Captain J. T. McGowan, St. John; and Lieutenant J. V. Young, Hamilton, have been appointed.

Extra officers from Montreal who will go to Valcartier will be: C. C. T. Hayes, W. G. Hanson, J. E. Eakins, J. K. M. Green, J. D. Armour and F. F. Inches.

ONE NATION ALONE IS IN NO ALLIANCE

Treaties Which Bind Other Powers Are More or Less Obscure

With the exception of the United States the great powers are all linked together by treaties of alliance. Only in one case, however, are the terms of treaties known to the public, says a writer in the London Globe.

The three treaties of alliance between Britain and Japan have all been made public immediately upon ratification. But of the contents of the other documents which govern the peace of the world nothing is known, though much may be inferred.

Inferences are possible because the terms of the original treaty of alliance between Germany and Austria, the Bismarck-Andrassy treaty of 1878, out of which the triple alliance sprang, have been published. Publication was an episode in Bismarck's controversy with Caprivi as to the justification for not renewing the so-called reinsurance treaty with Russia. Owing to this controversy it became known that Germany and Austria were pledged to make war in common if either power was attacked by Russia.

It is significant that Russia was expressly mentioned. The alliance was not a general document. In a sense Austria gained more than she gave, for while it safeguarded her against her greatest foe, Germany was without support in the event of war with France. To her the treaty meant nothing but the protection of her eastern frontier, and she felt justified in re-insuring herself by a convention with Russia, in which each power undertook not to attack the other. This reinsurance was made possible by the fact that her treaty with Austria was purely defensive.

Italy Joins Alliance. Three years after Bismarck had made his agreement with Austria he rounded off his diplomatic work by securing an ally against France. This ally was Italy, whose suspicion of France had been aroused by French expansion in Tunis and who was anxious to safeguard her own ambitions—subsequently realized—in northern Africa. The treaty with Italy was conceived on the same lines as the treaty with Austria. Each power undertook to support the other if either were attacked by France.

It is also understood that Italy, recognizing that the decisive battle would be fought in the north, agreed to place an army corps at Germany's disposal. This corps would necessarily be transported through Austrian territory, and it is because of this arrangement that the triple alliance is often said to date from 1881. But it is very doubtful whether any Austro-Italian treaty was then entered into. Italian opinion is of course still hostile to Austria—for the matter of that it is scarcely less hostile to-day—and it seems safe to assume that the three powers of the triple alliance were bound at first by two dual alliances.

Be this as it may, the situation was necessarily transformed in 1891, when the Franco-Russian alliance was signed. The two powers previously aimed at by two separate alliances being themselves united, closer co-operation between the powers of the triple alliance followed, and subsequent renewal of the alliance—the last occurred just before the outbreak of the first Balkan war—have been made by the three powers in consultation.

Very little is known about the terms of the triple alliance. The only certain fact is that the contracting parties are not obliged to communicate "freely and frankly" with one another, as are Britain and Japan under the terms of their treaty. As has Prince Buelow's word for it that Germany was not forewarned of the Bosnian annexation of 1908, and it is understood that the terms of the recent note to Serbia were not communicated in advance.

Triple Alliance is Defensive.

It follows from this that the alliance must be defensive, for no power would agree in advance to give armed support to another power's diplomacy without being in a position to influence it. It follows too that great importance will attach to the actual commencement of hostilities. If either Germany or Austria takes the offensive the terms of the alliance appear to be inoperative. As to Italy, it is universally understood that she is comparatively tightly bound—a concession necessary in view of the objection of Italian public sentiment to any agreement with the hereditary enemy, Austria.

Italy's partners, as the German press is wont to put it, are Germany and Austria, but she is permitted to dance extra with Russia. Indeed the czar visited the King of Italy at Raconigi at a time when Austro-Russian relations were so strained that he preferred to make the roundabout journey through Germany rather than cross Austrian territory. Moreover, Italy either is or was permitted to dance extra with France. It has indeed been categorically stated in explanation of this fact that the triple alliance did not apply to the Mediterranean.

This is almost certainly correct, at any rate up till 1912. We know, first, that in 1895 Italy stayed in the concert of Europe when Austria and Germany withdrew rather than put pressure on Turkey in the matter of Crete and, secondly, that the Turco-Italian war did not affect Turkey's diplomatic relations with the other powers of the triple. But a good deal had happened and a good deal more was about to happen when the alliance was renewed in 1912. It is understood that though Austria did not specifically recognize Italy's claims in Albania, she pledged herself not to annex further territory without giving Italy compensation.

The rivalry of the two powers was indeed apparent, and when Austria had

OUR SOLDIER LADS.

There is grim work ahead of the soldiers whose marching, steadfast tread resounded through the streets of Victoria this morning on their way to the battlefields of Europe to uphold the prestige of the old flag, the honor of the Empire and to make wider yet the bounds of freedom throughout the world. The news which came over the wires this morning indicates only too plainly that British statesmen thoroughly appreciated the situation when they warned the people of the British dominions that there would be times of tribulation and periods of doubt and depression ere the task to which they had addressed themselves would be accomplished. But the British government did not shrink from its obligations on that account, and the British people to the outmost confines of the Empire are behind them heart, soul and body and to the limit of their material resources in the struggle. The men of the 56th and the 80th regiments who left for the front this morning amid such inspiring and enthusiastic scenes as never have been witnessed in Victoria are volunteers, but there was that in their demeanor which indicated that they will give a good account of themselves in any undertaking to which they may be assigned by the Imperial staff. They bore themselves like true men as they marched through our streets, and they will quit themselves like men in the great test which soon will be applied. There are millions like them in Canada and the sister dominions, all ready to do their duty when occasion requires them to do so.

We wish our soldier boys all the luck possible and a joyous return to their homes after their part in the campaign is successfully performed.

THE WAR IN THE NORTH.

Reports from the London and Paris official publicity agencies show that the Germans are making desperate attempts to carry out their big turning movement along the northern French frontier, enveloping the allies left wing, and thus overcoming the most formidable obstacle to their march on Paris from this quarter. Severe fighting is reported to have taken place at Tourcoing, Roubaix and Tournai, in the vicinity of Lille, which was occupied by the invaders. A little to the southwest the allies, consisting of French and British troops, are said to be still holding the line from Comte to Mons, repulsing all attacks upon them. Just what the disposition of the troops in this quarter is it is impossible to outline from the bulletins, but it is plain that they are confronted by an army vastly superior in numbers. The British force, protecting the left wing, was attacked by five army corps and several divisions of cavalry, and both sides suffered heavy losses.

Nevertheless it would be idle to deny that the pressure of numbers in that region is making itself felt at certain points. The advantage enjoyed by the invaders at this stage is that they are able to place at a given point a force numerically superior to that which can be thrown against it by the allies owing to the necessity of the latter maintaining their entire line intact. At the same time it would be well to bear in mind that these herculean efforts of the Germans are undermining the basis of their military strength and that sooner or later their striking force will be diminished. This, of course, is true also in regard to the allied armies in the field, but to a lesser degree. The greater progress the invaders make the less forceful will be their offensive, and finally they will have to defend the new territory they have been able to occupy at such terrible cost. It is at this point that Britain will determine the issue of the struggle as far as France is concerned. She will send her army after army of fresh troops, until within six months, according to En-

Kitchener, she will have some eight hundred thousand men in the field. The majority of the forts of Namur are still holding out notwithstanding the stories from Berlin. In this connection it would be wise to accept German bulletins with a great deal of reserve. It will be recalled that a few days ago German dispatches declared that the Germans had been signally victorious against the Russians in east Prussia, but this can no longer delude the populace of Berlin, because thousands of refugees, abandoning their homes east of the Vistula, have arrived there with authentic information of the Russian advance. Moreover, an official domain whose head has proclaimed the worthlessness of its own assurances and bonds is not likely to be at all scrupulous in reporting the incidents of war.

This is a war of endurance. How long can Germany stand the strain? Even were she to reach Paris she would find that but one phase of the struggle had passed and in that phase she had exerted her full strength, wasted incalculable resources and lost thousands of men. Were France and Belgium alone involved against her, she might have the satisfaction of knowing that the end was in sight, but with the British Empire and Russia determined to bring about her overthrow if it takes years, how can she hope to win in the long run?

WILL KEEP GOING.

Sir George Paish, the eminent British statistician, points out that Great Britain emerged from the Napoleonic wars in a better industrial condition than she was in when that struggle began. At first she suffered considerably. The necessity of raising the huge sums required to maintain her armies and navies as well as the forces of friendly powers arrayed against the great disturber imposed a heavy burden, but after her people became accustomed to a state of war, adapting themselves to new conditions, they began to turn the upheaval to their advantage. With their country supreme on the seas, they extended their trade routes to the four corners of the globe. They gradually obtained a monopoly of overseas commerce, and even sold their wares in the country with which they were at war.

The limitation of their news facilities had not a little to do in an indirect sense with their business revival. The masses of the population were very meagrely informed of what was transpiring in Spain, where Wellington was more than holding his own with the ablest marshals of France, and they knew just as little of the stirring incidents in Austria, Poland and East Prussia. No doubt the shock of Austerlitz temporarily interrupted the fairly even tenor of their way, but on the other hand they were consoled by the triumph of Trafalgar. Generally speaking, however, they must have become so accustomed to the ebb and flow of a conflict which had been in progress continuously for many years that they were able to proceed with their business affairs without serious embarrassment.

Should the present war be prolonged it will be found that the British people, after the preliminary shocks and dislocation, will settle down to business almost as systematically and calmly as they did a little more than a century ago. Their statesmen will carry the burden which comes of a more intimate understanding of the occurrences in the extensive theatre of conflict and their significance, for this is one of the obligations of statesmanship.

Even now British tradesmen are endeavoring to profit by the strangulation of Germany's overseas commerce. Their agents are investigating the various neutral markets with a view to the displacement of German products. Germany exports annually something like $2,500,000,000 in goods of various kinds. Chief among these are textile materials and manufactures, base metals and electrochemical goods, toys, chemicals, leather and leather goods. None of these products can now leave German shores, and British manufacturers should substitute their own wares for them.

In this particular, the British dominions can render invaluable assistance. Canadian manufacturers should buy those goods to the exclusion of all other products. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has long vaunted its loyalty. It now has an opportunity to practice what it has been preaching. It is true the necessities of the situation may involve a diminution of profits, and even loss, but if our dealers sincerely desire to strike a blow at Germany in this crisis, more vital in the long run than even the blows struck by armies, they will increase their imports from British firms and decrease those from other countries. This is a war of systems. The Anglo-Saxon theory and practice of government and social and economic progress are confronted with Prussianism, with the ascendancy of militarism and all the arrogance and tyranny it connotes.

WORSE THAN SLAVISM.

Until Germany violated the neutrality of Belgium sentiment in Great Britain did not contemplate with equanimity the prospect of a war which might result in the enormous extension of Slav prestige and power on the continent. Russia's historic attitude towards helpless nations and individual freedom could not possibly commend itself to the liberty-loving people of the United Kingdom or the people of any other great democracy. But Germany's policy in the last few weeks has obliterated all qualms in that regard. It has shown that the expansion of Pan-Slavism could not be more of a menace to a free civilization than the lying, scheming, cruel despotism for which Prussianism stands. Is there a page in Russia's history any blacker than the assassination of innocent women and children, the sick and the afflicted, by the fiends who manipulated the Zeppelin dirigible over Antwerp the other day? Has Russia ever been as brutal in her treatment of a small nation as Germany has been to Belgium? We have heard much in recent years of the contributions Germans have made to science and industry, but they have permitted to exist a cult which is as barbarous as anything that can come out of Russia. Prussianism is worse than Slavism, because it believes it has a divine mission to devastate the heritage of weaker people.

RIPE FRUIT OF MILITARISM.

Germany has been sowing the seeds of militarism for forty years, and not only Germany but the greater part of Europe is reaping the fruits of mad militarism to-day. Whatever the ultimate result of the bloody struggle now proceeding all along the frontiers of the great powers of the continent, the subjects who also are the victims of the Kaiser will be the chief sufferers. The decisive victory of Prussia over France in 1870 created a great German empire, but it also gave birth to a war party, at the head of which the Kaiser swaggered and frowned with the mien and spirit of Mars until he no longer could contain himself, the consequences being the existing emporium. For whatever the world at large may think respecting the issues which preceded the outbreak of the war, there can be no disputing the fact that in the matter of European armaments Germany set the pace. The first war lord, as the Kaiser prefers to dub himself, and all the minor war lords have flouted and defied the world until their insolence became intolerable. Now they have precipitated chaos. The forces they have been creating for many years, holding them in leash until they considered the time ripe for a master stroke which would intimidate and dominate the world, in utter disregard of solemn obligations and elementary human rights, first swarmed into the weak and inoffensive little kingdom of Belgium, creating a veritable reign of terror there, looting, destroying and levying blackmail, exemplifying in characteristic fashion the spirit and the ethics of the robber barons who were the progenitors of the German war lords. But while for the moment ruthless power and barbarian instincts have subverted civilization, and while the Kaiser's myrmidons are striking with all their might at the armies of the allies on western frontiers, there is a cloud looming upon the east that must cause the first war lord some sleepless nights. Time has a rod in pickle for the Kaiser.

TO-DAY'S SUMMARY.

King Charles of Roumania is reported seriously ill.
A British destroyer has sunk an Austrian cruiser off Corfu, according to a newspaper dispatch from Brindisi, Italy.
The Russian military attaché at Paris is credited with the statement that additional Russian armies are about to invade western Prussia with the intention of marching on Berlin.
Henry S. Breckenridge, American assistant secretary of war, is in Vienna looking after some 600 Americans there. He expects to conclude his work at the Austrian capital to-day and proceed to Italy.
Field-Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary force, reports that his troops were attacked by five German army corps and cavalry Wednesday in the neighborhood of Cambrai and Locateau and that their casualties were heavy. He does not state the outcome of the battle, Cambrai and Locateau are French towns about ten miles southwest of Manbeuge.
A British correspondent at Lille, France, says that the advance guards of Germans are now at Pont-a-Marque and Marchiennes, French towns just south of Lille, in the department du Nord.
A newspaper dispatch from Boulogne reports that the Germans broke through the French lines near Arras, in the province of Pas de Calais, but

The two emperors have exchanged congratulations upon the progress of events and upon the fact that "God is with them" and is blessing the atrocities their armies are perpetrating in Europe. We cannot trust ourselves to comment in suitable terms upon such royal and pious exchanges. The Kaiser and the Emperor, however, are the two men who have unleashed the forces which have brought terrible travail upon Europe, and in the end their own people will pay the price, and it will be heavy, and the houses of Hohenzollern and Hapsburg will not escape payment of their part of the penalty. Let Wilhelm and Franz Josef take heed. "God is not mocked."

Quick to the Master's beck he timely bows.
Prayer on his hand that robs him, kisses
the heel that treads him in the mire!
He—the most robbed of all—robbed of his birthright of audacity—a slave in soul, too steeped to dream of aught
but slavery.
He—not the exploiter—is the heavy ball
upon the Chain that clogs Humanity.

RECOGNITION FOR IRELAND.

Hamilton Herald.
Wild cheering, we are told in a dispatch from London, from all parts of the House greeted John E. Redmond, the Nationalist leader, when he assured the government that every soldier in Ireland might be withdrawn to-morrow and the coasts of Ireland would be defended against invasion by her armed sons, the Catholics of the south and the Protestants of Ulster. This has been described as a bright spot in the present crisis. No one will quarrel with that description, but Mr. Redmond's announcement cannot be described as being any way, or of the nature of a surprise, for it is only in keeping with the traditions of Ireland. Her sons, no matter what may be their internal troubles and grievances, have always been ready to shed their blood for the empire.

IT MUST HAVE BEEN DIFFICULT.

Youth's Companion.
A man was brought before the court upon the complaint of his wife, says the Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung. While the prisoner was testifying, the judge made it clear that he intended to be harsh with him; so that his wife became frightened, and when called to the stand refused to give any testimony. In fact, she retracted all her accusations.
"So your husband didn't strike you, then?" said the judge. "Where did you get that black eye?"
"I struck it accidentally on the mantelpiece."
"So! And that piece bitten out of your ear—he didn't do that either?"
"No, no, your honor. I did that myself!"

THE EFFICACY OF PRAYER.

Ladies' Home Journal.
Bobby had been taught to remember all his relatives when he said his prayers. One night as he knelt at his mother's knee, he did not mention the name of a favorite aunt.
"Why, Bobby," said the mother, "you didn't say 'God bless Aunt Beatrice and make her happy.'"
"Well, mother," replied the little boy, "I don't have to say that any more. Aunt Beatrice's engaged!"

POLITICAL CANT.

Winnipeg Telegram.
Of course the partisan organs which praised the traitors in the Laurier senate for their action on not to discuss the subject in the present infuriated state of the public mind against those responsible for that disloyal action.

VISITING CHIEFS TO SEE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Friday is Day Set for Gathering of Victoria Fire-Fighters in Display

In addition to the formal sessions of the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs' convention here next week and the visit to the Malahat, to which reference has already been made in the Times, it is the intention to have an inspection of the Victoria department by the visitors on Friday. Chief Davis purposes showing the visiting chiefs what may be done in a few years in bringing a department up to a high state of efficiency.

Following the inspection there will be a demonstration of operations on the building of David Spencer, Ltd., with an alarm turned in from the corner of Yates and Broad streets. This exhibition will follow the lines of the fine display given on the last occasion that the department was tested in this manner. At the inspection, which will take place on Cornhill street opposite the central hall, most of the men will be out and all the motor equipment.

The usual exhibits of apparatus staged by manufacturers of fire department equipment, which are put on in conjunction with gatherings of fire chiefs, will be accommodated at Messon's shops, Broad street. Three manufacturers have applied for space.

Chief Murphy, of San Francisco, accompanied by several of the chiefs of California cities, left today for the north to attend the gathering, a demonstration having been held yesterday at the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds facing the Golden Gate, at which the San Francisco fire department played hosts. Next year it is expected that the Pacific fire chiefs' gathering will be among the numerous conventions held at San Francisco during the fair.

Chief Davis says that all the arrangements are completed for the gathering next week. Most of the visitors should be in the city by Sunday evening. Others will arrive on Monday. The session will last four days, the banquet at the Empress hotel being set for Thursday evening after the return from the Malahat drive. On that day luncheon will be served at the Goldstream hotel. Theatre and other engagements have been arranged for the evenings of the week.

There is to-day far more trumpet-blowing about sports than about education, but there will come a change.—Mr. Richard Burbridge

Back to the Land Movement.—The scheme of leasing and cultivating vacant lots in and around Victoria is excellent and should commend itself to everyone. There are many, however, who would prefer to lease a few acres with an option to purchase when convenient and so build up a permanent home in the country. You can select what you want from thousands of acres in the vicinity of Parkville and on the E. & N. railway extension to Courtenay. For full information apply to Vancouver Island Fruit Lands, Limited, general agents, Carmichael & Moorhead, Ltd., 608 Belmont House, Victoria, B. C.

Forest Fires Subdued.—The chief forester reports that the fire season has practically passed, the commencement of rains in many parts of the province having quenched the conflagrations. The rangers are still, however, on the watch, and outbreaks are dealt with at once. In East Lilloet the weather continues hot and dry.

Is Detained at Gibraltar.—Bodo von Alvensleben, of this city, who left Victoria at the threatened outbreak of war, has been detained together with 22 other German and Austrian reservists who were taken from the Italian liner Ancona sailing from New York. He is reported to be at Gibraltar.

Verdict of Suicide.—"Suicide while temporarily insane" was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury yesterday at the inquest on the body of Fong Puey, the Chinaman who hanged himself on Wednesday in the city jail after having been sentenced to a four-year term for wounding a fellow countryman.

Y. M. C. A. Campaign.—The Y. M. C. A. will commence its winter work in the course of the next few weeks. Special committees have been formed with a view of commencing a campaign of the city to present the aims and objects of the association to get new members, and to gather together all those who are interested in the same class of work.

W. C. T. U. Met.—The Central Union, W. C. T. U., held its regular business meeting yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. rest room, when considerable routine business was disposed of and the raising of funds discussed. At the meeting next Thursday of the central board the question of a garden party will be brought up.

First-Aid Work.—As other engagements prevent Dr. Donald from giving another lecture to those who have been attending the course in first-aid under his instruction, several fully qualified ladies have volunteered their services for demonstrating in bandaging for the information of members of the class, who are invited to attend at the Temple building on Saturday night, August 29, to get the benefit of this work.

Another Visit.—The police are today making another tour of the houses in the city where wireless equipment is installed with a view to putting all sets out of commission. A constable and one of the local heads of the government wireless branch previously made a tour of the city with the same object, but there are evidently some amateur operators still using small plants in the neighborhood.

Agricultural Exhibits.—The department of agriculture is continuing its policy of having British Columbia products displayed at the various chief shows of Canada, particular attention now being concentrated on the national exhibition, Toronto, which will attract a million people. Special care is given to a cinematograph lecture five times a day, which serves to explain the exhibits staged of lumber, fish, mineral and similar products.

Supplied Troops With Fruit.—The I. O. O. F. on Wednesday supplied the troops who left with a consignment of fruit for use on the journey to Valcartier, and a further donation accompanied the contingents who left the city today, this last consisting of ten cases of apples, nine of oranges, six of pears, four of grapes, all donated by the Victoria Wholesale Fruit and Produce association, consisting of A. P. Slade & company, Paterson Bros., and F. R. Stewart & company. The daughters of the Empire are sparing no effort to find out the needs of the families left behind by men who are going to the front.

To Tour Despite War.—The European war will not affect the plans of Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, the famous English actor, who is booked to appear at Victoria during his farewell tour of the west this season. Forbes-Robertson is at present in the old country with his wife and children, and will return to London next week to begin rehearsals for the plays which he will present in Canada and the United States this season. Despite the fact that Forbes-Robertson has appeared in each individual play in many hundreds of times, his rehearsals will be conducted with the same exacting spirit that characterizes a new production. Forbes-Robertson will begin his tour at Detroit, September 28, and after a week in that city will begin a four-week engagement in Chicago, after which he goes to the Pacific coast and back, playing at the Royal Victoria theatre here. His repertoire comprises "Hamlet," "The Light That Failed," "Passing of the Third Floor Back" and Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, August 28, 1889.

James M. Clark, superintendent of provincial police, Manitoba, after spending a couple of days in the city, during which time he was pleasantly engaged in sight-seeing here and at Esquimalt, left for Portland and San Francisco this morning.

A large panther has been playing havoc with sheep in the vicinity of Cudbory Bay. The beast was seen the other day in the act of seizing a lamb.

At the meeting of the board of aldermen this evening Alderman Harris will ask leave to introduce a by-law for raising $750,000 for the main sewer and outfall at Ross Bay, and the tributaries thereto.

An "at home," will be given to-morrow by the officers of C battery at the temporary quarters, Macaulay point. There will be dancing in the afternoon. About 200 invitations have been issued.

WITH OVERSEAS FORCE

SENIOR CORPORAL J. P. BROWN

A native son and one of the volunteers of the 50th Highlanders, who left Victoria for Valcartier this morning. He is the only son of Capt. Thos. H. Brown, master of the Dominion government dredge Mudlark, now operating in the upper harbor.

Hindustani Ghadr Banned.—The Ottawa authorities have notified the postal officials throughout Canada that the Hindustani Ghadr, published by the Yuganta Ashian society, San Francisco, is banned from the Canadian mails. The publication, which immigration authorities have found is of mutinous character and an instrument for fomenting that spirit among Hindus in this country, is considered a dangerous agency which should be suppressed.

Hospital Ship Fund.—The following further contributions to the Hospital Ship fund are acknowledged by the I. O. O. F. from Hillier's Crossing: Miss G. Newbery, $2.50; W. L. Gelder, $2.50; F. C. Drake, $2.50; John Gibb, $2.50; W. H. Bringshaw, $2.50; C. G. Fawcett, $2.50; Percy H. Butler, $2.50; G. Watson, $5; C. W. B. Hill, $2.50; Malcolm N. Callard, $2.50; P. A. Howard, $1; H. S. Manisty, $2.50; E. J. Ward, $2.50, and Mrs. F. C. Drake, $5, making a total of $38.50.

The German steamer "Schneefels" that was seized by the British in the Mediterranean recently, carried a large consignment of tea for the Salada Tea Co., which was fortunately insured. The war risk paid was in the neighborhood of six cents per pound of tea. It is now anticipated that the "Schneefels" will be tied up at Gibraltar until the close of the war.

Handicrafts School.—Owing to the generally unsettled state of affairs and the fact that many of both the pupils and teachers are for the time engaged in other things, the School of Handicrafts and Design, Courtney street, will not re-open until after the Christmas holidays.

NATIONAL Y. M. C. A. APPEALS FOR HELP

Militia Work Committee Recommends Measures for Sending Men.

The following circular has been sent to the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. from the National Council of the Young Men's Christian associations of Canada, having reference to the prosecution of the association work among the soldiers who have gone to Valcartier and to the front. The circular has been issued by the national militia work committee of the association.

"The war crisis has brought a great opportunity to the Canadian Young Men's Christian association. Thousands of soldiers will be in the Valcartier mobilization camp within a few days. Our work for soldiers in the summer camps has so commended itself to both officers and men that they are looking for us to do a similar work at this time. In addition men should be sent out with any Canadian contingents going overseas, as was done in the Boer war in South Africa.

"This is a great opportunity, but the emergency lays upon our National Council a serious financial problem, which we feel can only be solved by the heartiest assistance from the local organizations. At a recent meeting, the national executive suggested the following steps for co-operation: 1. Submit to us carefully selected lists of names of persons who might be appealed to by letter for generous contributions for this special emergency fund. 2. Appeal to your entire membership for contributions suited to their individual abilities for sending workers to the mobilization camps and overseas. 3. Some of the associations have already signified their willingness to release employed officers or to pay the salaries of other experienced men to represent them in this work.

The local association is doing all in its power to further the proposed work, and calls attention to the help given by A. J. Brace, now engaged in missionary work in China, but one-time secretary of the Victoria Y. M. C. A., who went out to South Africa during the Boer war and gave much service in attending to the physical and spiritual needs of the men.

Dallas Road.—Notice has been posted at the city hall that a motion will be introduced to provide for the paving of that portion of Dallas road between the north side of Erie street and the south side of Simcoe street. The date for receiving objections from owners has expired without any objections being lodged.

Arbitration Next Month.—The arbitration case arising from the impossibility of a mutual agreement being reached regarding the price to be paid for the Warwick property, required for the extension of Pandora avenue, will take place early in September, R. E. Brett, the umpire, is away at present.

Special Meeting of Board.—The city school board was called together this afternoon to hear a statement from John Kyle, government inspector of night schools, with regard to the continuation schools this term. The board anticipates some difficulty in financing the scheme this year on account of exceptional demands on available funds. Mr. Kyle laid before the board the desires of the department of education with regard to the curriculum and other matters of a similar character.

Sustained Compound Fracture.—A bad accident occurred this morning at the corner of Humboldt and Douglas streets, when motor car No. 7513 belonging to a Vancouver owner whose name is unknown, crashed into a bicycle ridden by a boy of fourteen named Donald Henderson. The boy sustained a compound fracture of the right leg below the knee, the bone being clean picked through. Fortunately Dr. Grant was nearby and was able to render effective aid. The boy was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital where he is progressing as well as can be expected. When Constable Wood and Driver Caldwell, of the city police, arrived on the scene, the motor car had vanished.

BRITAIN WILL FIGHT TO THE LAST DITCH

London Visitor Says That War is Struggle to a Finish; Preparedness of France

"Britain will go through with this war to the last inch," said M. James, a London visitor in the city, to the Times this morning. "She will use every man in the country and every one she can get from the Empire before she will cry quits."

"If Germany has the idea that a few victories in Belgium and France, or even the fall of Paris, would cause the Allies to sue for peace she is vastly mistaken, at least as far as one can judge from the common talk in the old country. Britain has entered into this fight after working hard for peace only because honor and her traditional sense of justice compelled her so to do. But once in she is going to stay in till victory crowns her arms on the continent. "As for the sea aspect of the war, does it not strike one as a tremendous fact that the Atlantic and the North seas are so clear from the enemy that virtually the usual shipping is being carried on over the well-worn trade routes; that troops are being transported to Belgium without the slightest attempt at molestation; that the North sea frontier of Germany has been so diligently and effectively blockaded that she has not been able to get a ship into her North sea ports for days? "The Kaiser has probably issued instructions for the German fleet to keep snug and safe. He desires, I think, to keep his navy intact at the present time in order not to raise alarms or dampen the spirits of the land forces by the stories of German reverses at sea. But while he does this, the German trade routes are being steadily closed, and the tally of Germany's food supplies is getting less and less, only bringing nearer and nearer the inevitable end.

"The question now is: How long can Germany hold out? Her arms have not been so successful in Belgium and France as they had planned. Her great land force is held on the frontier by the allied forces, and all the time that great Russian invasion, terrible and threatening, is passing like a shadow of a cloud over all Eastern Prussia, every day closer to the heart of the German Empire. If Russia reaches that heart and stops its beating then goodnight to the Kaiser and goodnight to Germany as a first-rate power in Europe!

"The Germans have the idea that once they force the French frontier they are on the high road to Paris. They forget the line after line of fortification which French preparedness has thrown across the country. Paris itself now is one of the strongest places in Europe if not the strongest, and it would take a million men months to take it if it were defended with the courage and readiness for sacrifice which the French showed in the Franco-Prussian war."

GRANTED CERTIFICATES

Requirements to Be Met by Vessels Before Permitted to Pass Through

Formal announcement of the customs regulations which will apply through the Panama canal has been made by Governor Goethals, and as far as possible they conform to the customs regulations of the United States.

The regulations provide that the executive secretary of the canal shall supervise the customs service, and that under him will be the captains of the ports of the canal zone, who will act as ex-officio officers of the service and various other canal employees, who on special occasions will be appointed as temporary customs officers without extra compensation.

It is provided that vessels may enter and clear at either the port of Balboa or that of Cristobal, and if they desire to pass through the canal without stopping at the opposite terminal port they may clear at the port of entry. Masters of vessels entering the canal are required to furnish the boarding officer with a report of arrival, including statistical data with reference to the vessel, its cargo and passengers. A manifest of cargo is also required and additional manifests must be furnished at each point within the canal zone at which the vessel discharges.

Clearance papers from the last port of call are another requirement, as well as complete passenger lists distinguishing between through passengers and those to be landed within the borders of the canal zone, a complete crew roster, list of sea stores, purser's statement, certificate of discharge from quarantine and, in cases of vessels under United States registry, the register and articles specified in the regulations.

Vessels of war or public vessels owned or chartered by a foreign government are not required to report or enter upon arrival at either of the terminal ports of the canal, but such vessels are subject to the quarantine regulations, and those relative to the payment of tolls and bills for material, supplies, harbor pilotage, wharfage and other services rendered by the Panama canal.

WIRELESS WAS SEALED.

Upon the arrival of the Tamba Maru off Port Townsend yesterday her wireless key was sealed by the U. S. customs officers, in compliance with the requirements of neutrality regulations, and will be kept sealed until the steamer clears for the Orient. The key of the wireless equipment of all foreign vessels entering United States waters are treated in this way so that no news can be transmitted to friendly warships while the vessels are within American territory.

BARQUETTE ARRIVES.

The barquentine "Amazone," Captain Hayes, arrived at Port Townsend yesterday, after a voyage of twenty-three days, from Antwerp, and proceeded to the Balling Point. The ship is a cargo of lumber for Cedar. Captain Hayes reported that for eleven days he was beating about off the entrance of the Straits in a dense fog.

DAMAGE TO PRINCESS VICTORIA

The above cut will give an idea of the force of the blow which the fine Gulf and Sound ferry struck the Alaska liner Admiral Sampson when the latter was sunk off Point No Point, near Seattle, on Wednesday morning. The steel plates of the Victoria on both sides of the bow were torn back for about twenty feet a few feet above the waterline, and the stem was smashed clean off for a length of eight or ten feet. In the picture the piles and wharf can be seen through the opening. The object lying in the opening is a part of one of the Sampson's hatch covers with a piece of the tarpaulin which was over it.

MADE CAPTAIN PROMISE, NOT TO FIGHT GERMANY

New York, Aug. 28.—Captain Evans, of the British freighter Drumcliffe, reported on the arrival of his ship to-day from Buenos Ayres and Trinidad that on August 6, off the coast of Brazil, the Drumcliffe was halted by the German cruiser Dresden and he was compelled by the Dresden's commander to sign a pledge not to fight against Germany.

CUZCO MAY NOT COME

It is thought by Balfour, Guthrie & Co., agents for the Cuzco, that the freight which is being brought north by this steamer will be unloaded at a sound port and brought on here by a coaster. The Cuzco has come up from the west coast of South America and stopped at Salina Cruz to take a quantity of freight that has been accumulating there since the Mexican troubles broke out, and which had come by the Tehuantepec route.

TEUCER HEAT FROM

Cable advices to Dodswell & Company, Victoria agents for the Blue Funnel line, announced the departure from Yokohama on Wednesday of the Teucer, the big freighter will arrive here on September 8. She is bringing some five hundred tons of general freight from United Kingdom and Oriental ports for discharge here and a heavy cargo for Sound ports.

SEVILLE REPORTED

The Harrison direct liner Crown of Seville, Captain Smith, which is on the way out from Antwerp and Liverpool with a large general cargo for this port, is reported as arriving at San Pedro on August 31, and is due to arrive here about Sept. 4.

POWERFUL SEA-GOING TUG LORNE

Twenty-five years ago to-day the well-known towing craft had her trials out in the Straits, and made thirteen knots with a consumption of coal which was only half that of the best tugs of that day. Since that time the Lorne has been in service out of this port, and has rendered assistance in several of the shipping disasters of recent years.

CHINESE TRADERS FIRE ON A RUSSIAN VESSEL

The Russian legation at Peking some weeks ago complained of firing on the Russian ship Napoleon while it was lying in the Ussuri river by Chinese soldiers or police. After a diplomatic delay the Chinese government has forwarded a reply to the Russian minister, according to late Shanghai exchanges. From the Chinese version of the affair it appears that certain Chinese merchants were having goods conveyed on the Napoleon. On arrival at their destination these goods were being unloaded, when a merchant noticed that some of them had been damaged in transit and claimed compensation. A dispute arose with the Russian crew, who attempted to sail away with the merchandise and the remainder of the cargo. The merchants on shore, fearing that their companion and their goods would be carried off, fired on the ship with revolvers and compelled it to stop. Nobody was hurt. The Chinese deny that either soldiers or police fired on the steamer and state that the merchants only fired as a last resort.

LENGTHENING FERRY SLIP AFFECTS DOCK

The Seattle dock commissioners have decided to lengthen the West Seattle ferry slip, at the foot of Marion street, running its west end out to the outer harbor line, and their engineer is preparing plans for this work. This will close the south side of the Grand Trunk Pacific dock and the north side of the Colman dock to all but small vessels, as the space left after the building of the ferry slip will not be wide enough to handle big steamers.

Joshua Green, president of the Inland Navigation company, has filed a protest with the commissioners against the proposed plans on the ground that the fire slip will be created. If the fire slip will be created, the building of the ferry slip will not be wide enough to handle big steamers.

CANADA MARU WILL CALL.

It is announced officially that the Canada Maru, of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, which did not call here on her inward voyage, on orders from Osaka, will call on her way out on September 2, but that the Tacoma Maru, due in on September 3, and the Panama Maru, due in on September 17, will omit the call here. In the latter two cases the Victoria passengers will come from the Sound by the Inland Navigation, and the freight will be shipped over on one of the coasting freighters. The Seattle Maru, due to arrive here from the Orient on October 1, is to stop, according to present arrangements, and it is supposed that thereafter the line will resume its usual calls here in and out.

ADRIATIC DUE TO-NIGHT.

A. E. Disney, North Pacific Coast passenger agent, advises C. F. Earle, agent here, that the White Star liner Adriatic, from Liverpool and Queens-town on August 21 with 457 first, 720 second and 671 third-class passengers, is due in Boston this evening or tomorrow morning. The Leyland liner Devonian, which sailed from Liverpool the same day with 150 cabin passengers, is due in Boston on Sunday.

LEAVES FOR SKAGWAY

To-morrow night the Princess Sophia will leave Vancouver for Skagway and way ports of call. Passengers from Victoria will take the afternoon ferry to-morrow and get the steamer at Vancouver. The sailing of the Sophia from here was advanced to day so as to enable her to take the Victoria portion of the Canadian contingent to the mainland.

DISPATCH IN DRY-DOCK

The steam freighter Dispatch, of the Borden line, has gone into dry-dock in Seattle for an overhaul, and before she comes out again there will have been spent upon her $25,000 on improvements and the enlarging of her stowage space. Another vessel is to be chartered to take her place in the freighting trade between here and Sound ports while she is laid up.

There are always clouds in the international sky. You never get a perfectly blue sky in foreign affairs. Mr. Lloyd George.

S. S. CONVENTION TO HAVE GOOD SPEAKERS

The International Association Lending Two Workers for Congress Here in October.

The annual convention of the British Columbia Sunday School association, which is to open at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on October 14, for three days, promises to be an interesting event, and the programme offers a number of items of general as well as specific interest. All the morning and evening sessions will take place in the auditorium of St. Andrew's church. Afternoon separate conference sessions will be held elsewhere as specified.

The International association this year lent two workers to address the convention, these being W. C. Pearce, associate general secretary and a specialist in adult work, who has helped to make the Sunday school one of the greatest men's organizations in the world; and Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, who makes a specialty of elementary work. Other important speakers will include Rev. George T. Pratt, of Seattle, who two years ago visited Victoria and was heard by many people here; and Rev. Charles A. Phipps, of Portland, who has been in Sunday school leadership over twenty years.

In addition to these there will be many speakers from various parts of the province. A Callender, of Vancouver, will be general chairman; J. E. Andrews, of this city, will be chairman of the local committee; and Rev. I. W. Williamson, general secretary for the province, will preside at the conference of superintendents. ## ALDERMEN ARE ASKED TO KEEP AGREEMENT

Council Discusses Underground Telephone Work; Bridge Matters

The mayor took the advice of the city council this afternoon on a request from the B. C. Telephone company that another $25,000 of debentures under the agreement of 1911 be advanced. The company had filed with the comptroller a certificate from its engineers that work had been done representing that value, and had asked for a further instalment beyond the $20,000 worth already advanced in connection with the underground works. In view of the protracted negotiations between the city council and the company, the comptroller declined to give the voucher without a resolution of the council, hence the special meeting to decide what course the aldermen would adopt in the matter.

While Alderman Porter was acting mayor Mr. Halse submitted alternative proposals to the aldermen, but no action was taken upon them in view of an intimation Mr. Halse gave the council that the company would proceed under the old agreement. As part of that agreement the city undertook to lend its credit to the extent of $100,000, secured on the conduit system.

Since Mr. Halse's visit the council has been advised by the city solicitor of the report of E. V. Bodwell, K. C. As that report would disclose the exact position of the city's case under possible legal proceedings, its contents have not been published but from the latest development it appears that the company intends that the city shall maintain its part of the bargain fully.

Reference was made yesterday to the removal of telephone poles from a portion of Government street and the substitution of brackets attached to buildings. The improvement goes a long way toward demonstrating the desirability of the policy adopted for the removal of poles from the streets.

In connection with the Johnson street bridge question, the council committee has been waiting an advice from the B. C. Electric railway as to whether the company has reached terms with the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway with regard to the proposed interlocking plant on the west end of the bridge. In the opinion of some aldermen, this plant may not be necessary. On the other hand the railway commission may order its installation, in which case the city wishes to be advised as to who will be responsible for the payment when it comes to be put in position. It will cost about $15,000 and there will be the maintenance expenses to keep up.

Herr Landmann recently accomplished a non-stop flight of twenty-one hours forty-nine minutes, which is claimed to be a world's record.

REPORT THEMSELVES TO THE AUTHORITIES

Regulations Governing Actions of Germans and Austro-Hungarians in Canada

The Canada Gazette of August 22, which arrived in Victoria by mail to-day, sets out the regulations with regard not only to men of German and Austro-Hungarian nationality who are not subject to military call, but those who are reservists. There being a number of British Columbia citizens of these nationalities, the following extract will be of interest:

"Whereas a state of war exists between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the German empire, and between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Austro-Hungarian monarchy; and whereas certain instructions have been received from his majesty's government in connection with the arrest and detention of subjects in Canada of the German empire and of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy and particularly of those who attempt to leave Canada;

"And whereas there are many persons of German and Austro-Hungarian nationality quietly pursuing their usual avocations in various parts of Canada, and it is desirable that such persons should be allowed to continue in such avocations without interruption; Now know ye that by and with the advice of our Privy Council for Canada, we do by these presents proclaim and direct as follows:

"1. That all persons in Canada of German or Austro-Hungarian nationality, so long as they quietly pursue their ordinary avocations be allowed to continue to enjoy the protection of the law and be accorded the respect and consideration due to peaceful and law-abiding citizens; and that they be not arrested, detained or interfered with, unless there is reasonable ground to believe that they are engaged in espionage, or engaging or attempting to engage in acts of a hostile nature, or are giving or attempting to give information to the enemy, or unless they otherwise contravene any law, order-in-council or proclamation.

"(a) All German or Austrian or Austro-Hungarian officers, soldiers or reservists who attempt to leave Canada;

"(b) All subjects of the German empire or of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy in Canada, who attempt to leave Canada, and in regard to whom there is reasonable ground to believe that their attempted departure is with a view to assisting the enemy; and

"(c) All subjects of the German empire or of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy in Canada engaged or attempting to engage in espionage, or acts of a hostile nature, or giving or attempting to give information to the enemy, or assisting or attempting to assist the enemy, or who are on reasonable grounds suspected of doing or attempting to do any of the said acts;

"That in addition to and without affecting the power already vested in the militia in that behalf power to effect the arrest and detention of all or any persons or persons coming within any of the classes mentioned in paragraph (2) hereof be vested in the chief commissioner and the commissioners and constables of the Dominion police force; the commissioner, officers and constables of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police; and such other persons as may be authorized so to do by the chief commissioner and officers mentioned in paragraph (3) hereof, or the militia, be authorized to release any such person so arrested or detained as aforesaid of whose reliability they may be satisfied on his signing an undertaking in the form following:

"I, ..... at present of ..... in the province of ..... in the Dominion of Canada, do hereby declare that I am a German or an Austro-Hungarian subject; I now in consideration of my exemption from detention as a subject of Germany or Austria-Hungary, do hereby undertake and promise that I will report to such official and upon such terms as the Canadian authorities may from time to time prescribe that I will carefully observe the laws of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of Canada and such rules as may be specially laid down for my conduct; that I will strictly abstain from taking up arms and from doing any act of hostility towards the government of this country, and that except with the permission of the officer under whose surveillance I may be placed, I will strictly abstain from communication to anyone whomsoever any information respecting the existing war or the movements of troops, or the military preparations which the authorities of Canada or Great Britain may make, or as respects the resources of Canada, and that I will do no act that might be of injury to the Dominion of Canada or the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the dominions and possessions thereof.

Dated this ..... day of ..... 1914.

Witness, ..... That any such person so arrested and detained as aforesaid, of whose reliability the officer or authority making the arrest is not satisfied, or who refuses to sign such undertaking, or having signed same fails to abide by its terms, be interned by such authorities and officers or militia according to the usages and laws of war in such place as may be provided by the militia, and that if it be deemed necessary that guards be placed on persons so interned, such guards be furnished by the active militia of Canada on the request of such authorities or officers to officers commanding divisional areas and districts.

"6. That all such authorities and officers of militia who may exercise any of the powers above mentioned be directed to report in each case to the chief commissioner of Dominion police stating the name, address and occupation of the person detained or paroled, the date and place of detention and generally the circumstances of the arrest and detention of all such information as may be necessary or useful for the purposes of record and identification.

The value of the United Kingdom manufactures imported into Canada in 1913 exceeded by 29 per cent. that of the previous year.

MILITIA STAYS IN CAMP

No Change in Routine For Present; Lt.-Col. Currie Left For Quebec in Hurry.

The departure of the volunteer contingents has left the Willows and Dockyards camps rather thinly populated, as almost half of both infantry regiments left for the front. Camp routine was maintained as usual, however, the soldiers drilling in companies and sections with a view to perfecting their work. Colonel Roy stated this morning that the men would be kept in camp indefinitely, but he could not announce any special programme for the immediate future.

Lieut.-Colonel Currie and Lieutenant Ellis departed for camp yesterday on receipt of a wire from the militia department urging haste. It had been Col. Currie's intention under previous orders to go to Quebec with the 500 men who left this morning, but the later wire caused him to change his plans suddenly. A few friends heard of his departure and went to the boat to give him a hearty send-off.

The Highlanders pipe band gave a concert in Broad street last night and later drove around in motors with the volunteers who were on leave for the evening. The soldiers shouted and cheered as they were driven around through the streets and everywhere they went the pedestrians answered them with other cheers.

Corporal Eden of the 5th regiment overseas contingent has sent to the Times the following note for publication: "On behalf of the overseas contingent of the 5th regiment, we heartily appreciate the grand send-off the citizens of Victoria gave us on embarking for the front."

The work of the intellect is posterior to the work of feeling. The latter lies at the foundation of the man; it is his proper self—the peculiar thing that characterizes him as an individual.—Hallam.

Sir Herbert Tree's jeu d'esprit, in which he referred to himself and a brother actor as "licensed gaggers" who "might be called Gag and Maygag," recalls, writes a correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette, a witty impromptu by the late Mr. D'Oyly Carte. On one occasion Queen Victoria commanded a performance of "The Gondoliers" at Windsor, and with a copy of the libretto before her, her majesty intently followed the development of the opera. At the close the queen questioned Mr. Carte with reference to certain remarks of the actors which did not appear in the book of the words. "They were gags, your majesty," replied the famous manager. "Gags?" queried the queen. "The only gags I ever heard of were things put in people's mouths by authority to prevent them speaking." "Ah," said Mr. Carte, "these are a different kind. They are what people put in their own mouths without authority."

ORPHEUM VAUDEVILLE.

One of the big features of the Orpheum show at the Royal Victoria next Monday and Tuesday will be the Six American Dancers, a whirlwind attraction. It is an entirely new act featuring some of the most graceful terpsichorean exponents that the stage has seen with unusually beautiful costumes.

For a number of seasons the Six American Dancers have been one of vaudeville's greatest cards but this season they are said to be surpassing even their own excellent record. They have been a standard headliner not only on the foremost metropolitan stages of this country and the United States but of Europe and the British Isles as well. Their present offering presents a departure in stage dancing. The act is splendidly mounted, the costumes are the last word in elegance and lavishness and the grace and beauty of the girls who participate are the delight of all who love beauty and vivacity as expressed on the stage.

The Six American Dancers will adorn the bill offered by the Orpheum Circuit at the Royal Victoria for four performances, two matinees and two nights, commencing Monday, August 31.

"A BUTTERFLY ON THE WHEEL"

That situation arising so often in English society where a big man becomes so engrossed in politics or art as to forget his wife is the premise on which two members of the British House of Commons collaborated to build their great drama "A Butterfly on the Wheel," dealing with the English divorce law.

The name of the play, which is to be produced by the Allen Players at the Princess theatre next week, is unusually suggestive calling to mind, as it does, the picture of a poor little butterfly of fashion being beaten to death on the great crushing wheels of the English courts. The big scene is that in which the girl wife of an aspiring politician finds herself under cross-examination in her defence of a divorce suit. She has been embroiled in an affair too big for her, she is unable to explain and the massive machinery of the court grinds on and on until with a despairing cry she swoons.

Miss Verna Felton will appear as the girl wife, Peggy Adamson. In the earlier scenes Peggy's light-hearted good spirits and innocent nature are seen slowly entering the tolls of the fascination she unconsciously weaves for men. When her eyes are suddenly opened and she is thrust all unprepared into the witness box the strain is too much for her. Norman Feuster will play the husband and Irving Kennedy the fascinating young chap who leads Peggy into the compromising situation upon which the play hinges. The whole company is well cast in this drama.

SCRAP BOOK

250th Anniversary of the Conquest of New Amsterdam.

This is a year of historic retrospection for the American metropolis, for it was just three centuries ago that New Amsterdam was founded by Dutch traders, and it was 250 years ago to-day, August 29, 1664, that the Dutch flag was hauled down and the banner of Great Britain was raised in its place, while the name of the little village was changed to New York. At the time of the British conquest, New York was a village of rude huts, with a population of 1,500, while the entire province of New Netherlands, held within its obscure boundaries less than 10,000 whites.

A few years after New Amsterdam died and New York was born, Governor Andros described the province as containing "towns, villages or parishes, in six precincts or courts of session. The servant question was acute then as now, for he wrote that the well-to-do people of the village were much in need of servants. Negro slaves were very scarce, most of them coming from Barbadoes, and sold in the market for from $150 to $175. A merchant worth from $2,500 to $5,000 was accounted a rich man, while a planter possessed of half that much in movables was thought to be a substantial citizen.

The commerce of New York with Britain and New England was carried on by fifty vessels, of about 100 tons each. New York owned five small ships, of which four were built there. The principal exports were furs, lumber, tar and provisions. The imports from Britain amounted to about $250,000 a year. The customs, excises and quit-rents did not nearly suffice to cover the public expenses.

New York and Southampton, on Long Island, were the principal trading places for foreign commerce, while Albany, which had been called Fort Orange by the Dutch, was the centre of a flourishing trade with the Indians. At that period of New York's history the province had about 2,000 males able to bear arms, and a cavalry force of 400 men. Ministers were scarce, and there was great diversity in religious views. No records of births or marriages were kept. There were no beggars in New York, and all the poor were well cared for.

Although the Dutch were the first colonists in the regions surrounding Hudson, the British claimed New Netherlands as part of Virginia, priorly discovered by Cabot. Early in 1664 Charles II. granted the territory to the Duke of York, who organized an expedition to take possession of the country. The British fleet consisted of four ships, the Guinea, of 38 guns; the Elias, of 30 guns; the Martin, of 16 guns, and the William, of 10 guns. Col. Richard Nicolls was in command, with 450 soldiers. The Dutch decided that it was useless to resist the British, who could bring overwhelming aid from Hartford, and the future metropolis of America was given up without a struggle.

The leading Dutch residents, including Governor Stuyvesant and Van Rensselaer, swore allegiance to Charles II. and the Duke of York, and the Dutch remained for some years the principal element of Britain's new colony. The Knickerbocker tradition has held its own to this day, and the descendants of the Dutch settlers constitute the inner circle of New York aristocracy. In 1673 a Dutch fleet of seven vessels, with 1,600 men, arrived before Manhattan, and after one shot Fort James surrendered, and the Dutch flag was again raised, while the names of New Amsterdam and New Netherlands were restored. The Dutchmen of Manhattan gave a joyous welcome to their countrymen, but their joy was of brief duration, for in the following year the town and province were again surrendered to the British. Capt. John Manning, who surrendered the town to the Dutch, was tried by court martial, and was sentenced to have his sword broken over her head, and forbidden to wear a sword or serve the crown.

YOU Wouldn't Wear A $15 Suit

Perhaps you never did, and perhaps you wouldn't like to, but if you were offered a thirty dollar suit for fifteen dollars—that would be a coat of another color, wouldn't it?

Now, that's exactly what you are offered at the LADIES' SAMPLE SUIT HOUSE, upstairs at 1208 Government street. Here are scores of the most charming and most distinctive Fall Suits ever shown in Victoria; every one a manufacturer's special sample, and every one different. Our upstairs prices are $12.50, $15.00, $17.50, $20.00, $25.00, $30.00, $35.00 and up, but in every case the price is from 30 to 50 per cent less than you would be charged by the regular downstairs stores, and then there is no store in the city which can show you such exquisite models at any price.

The new Fall Coats ranging in price, from $8.50 are equally remarkable both as regards styles and values, and the variety for your choice is just as large as in the case of our Suits.

If you want two suits for the price of one, or if you want to have enough left over from your suit allowance to buy a dress or a couple of hats, then come upstairs tomorrow.

POWELL MAY JOIN VICTORIA

CLUB BEFORE SPOKANE SERIES

Bee Pitcher to Be Released; Tacoma Will Hold Umpire Day; Final Game To-morrow; Baseball News

Changes are probable in the Victoria baseball team before the club leaves tomorrow afternoon for Spokane. The club is now dickering with Watt Powell and may have this heavy hitter in the outfield when it starts the Spokane series. Powell has been turned over to it by Vancouver and should accept Victoria's terms, one of the local writers will be released to make room for him. Tomorrow's game will be called at 2 o'clock to enable the Bees to catch the 4:30 p.m. boat, the Bees winding up the season at Vancouver after the week at Spokane.

Tacoma fans are talking of putting on an Umpire Day there next Sunday in honor of Pearl Casey, who used to play second base there on the old Tigers and who belongs to the Tacoma Elks' lodge. George W. Bishop, the Tacoma sport writer, was the originator of Umpire Day, which is now observed in various parts of the country.

Felder Jones, Chicago's former idol, who is to take charge of the St. Louis Federal league club, has innocently betrayed the latest scheme of James A.

FINAL GAME FOR COMING HOLIDAY

Royals Will Play Off Postponed Game on Labor Day; Eastern Lacrosse

Efforts are now being made to have the New Westminster lacrosse club play here on Labor Day in the final match of the local P. C. A. L. A. season. A telegram was sent to the Royal City management last night but no reply has yet been received. The league will probably order the Royals to come here on that date should they refuse to come, as the Victoria club is a financial loser and needs the gate money to make up the year's expenses. Manager Powell will keep his men practising regularly and expects to wind up the season with a win.

President Percy Quinn states that the Big Four will not sanction a series between the Toronto and National teams for the eastern lacrosse championship. With that big money in sight, National will probably forget to consult the D. L. A. in dickering with the Rosedale.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—After all preparations had been made for the trip to the west in quest of the Minto cup, the Rosedale lacrosse team was suddenly forced to abandon these plans, owing to the outbreak of war. This is the statement given out by "Sport" Merton. Merton further says that the players now have strong hopes of meeting Nationals in a post season series. The Toronto outfit is willing to play on any grounds, at any time, and on any agreement which will suit the franchise.

"We will play them the best three out of five, or the best two out of three," says Merton. "It is up to them to decide." That both teams are fit and ready to play a post-season series is shown by the way they have been cleaning up the other teams in their respective leagues. Rosedale will probably go through the season without a defeat, while in the case of Nationals, unless Irish-Canadians come through, they will also finish their schedule without any losses.

WOLGAST AND MANDOT.

A dispatch from Milwaukee says that Ad Wolgast, formerly world's lightweight champion, and Joe Mandot have been matched for a ten-round bout to be staged Friday, September 18.

Tom Andrews, the Wisconsin promoter, promises the winner of the battle a scrap with either Charley White, the Chicago lightweight, who fought Ritchie recently, or Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, if the latter can be induced to cross the Atlantic for the contest.

REECE WILL TOUR.

R. Cliburn, agent for Burroughes and Watts, recently received a letter from Tom Reece, the celebrated English billiard expert, to the effect that he would play a number of exhibition games in British Columbia next month. Reece was a runner-up for the English championship, eliminating George Gray and Stevenson, but lost to Melbourne Inman in the final.

SOLD TO CLEVELAND.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 28.—William Rogers, captain and second baseman of the Portland Pacific Coast team, has been sold to the Cleveland Americans, according to the announcement here of W. W. McCredie, owner of the Beavers. Rogers will report at Cleveland next morning.

Gilmore and associates to bring organized baseball to mediocrity frame of mind. The independent promoters hope to wean away from the big family the allegiance of a great many of the minor leagues who now pay fealty or draft to higher organizations for the protection of territorial and player rights.

New York, Aug. 27.—Manager Frank Chance, of the New York Highlanders, now says he is glad Ray Caldwell, who jumped to the Buffalo Federal league club, has left his team.

"Caldwell is a fairly good pitcher, but one of the hardest men in baseball to handle."

Other members of the Yankee team say that as fast as Chance slapped fines on Caldwell the club was slipping Ray the money to play the fines.

Caldwell signed a contract with the Buffalo Bobs several weeks ago. It was said the club gave him $5,000 as a bonus.

Ed. Klepfer, sold to the Chicago White Sox, signed his 1915 contract before the deal was completed. These major league magnates are taking no chances of having the Federals grab their prospects by offering them a better figure.

It is possible that the possession of the Tener circuit's gonfalon will be decided in a series between Boston and New York at the polo grounds, starting September 30 and continuing through October 3.

WEEKLY SHOOT OF ESQUIMALT GUN CLUB

The weekly practice shoot of the Esquimalt Gun club will be held at Admirals' road, Esquimalt, on Sunday next, at 10 a. m. As this will be the last before the annual Labor Day tournament takes place, all trap shooters are advised to attend and obtain good practice. The club is meeting with very generous support in its endeavor to provide a day's sport, which will far surpass anything of its nature yet held in the locality.

Sportsmen desiring to enter club events, besides the open competitions, should communicate with the secretary, A. B. Beales, Beaumont P. O., not later than Monday, August 31. The membership fee of $1.50 should accompany all applications, and the membership cards will be sent by return mail.

WANT FABRE BACK.

A petition has been sent to the heads of the A. A. U. of Canada, which is signed by some thirteen hundred friends and well-wishers of Ed. Fabre, the great French runner, asking of that body that the marathons be immediately restored to good standing as an amateur and that his full status be re-granted to him.

SOCCER PRACTICE.

Messrs Wright and Allison will represent the C. L. A. A. at the next meeting of the Victoria Football association. The new club will meet a team from the Fairfield Athletic association to-morrow afternoon.

"JAWN" IS RECOVERING.

Friends of Jack Marshall will be glad to learn that he is on the high road to recovery from the injury he received to his knee while playing lacrosse for the Irish-Canadians in Toronto, and is up and about again. He cannot put the injured member into use as yet, however, and is hobbling around by the aid of a crutch.

BOWLING SERIES.

Last evening at the Arcade alleys, H. Ireland took a lead in the first half of a ten-game series for the bowling championship of the city, finishing 34 pins ahead of O. Barton. The Wards will line up as follows: Pitcher, Balcom; catcher, Dinsdale; first base, Lane; second base, Milne; shortstop, McGregor; third base, Hall; left field, Ledingham; centre, Wap; right, Schneider.

PROMISE EXCITING END TO TOURNAMENT

Victoria Wins From Vancouver by Small Margin; Three Teams Are Equal

To-day's Games.
University Incogs. vs. Seattle, Mt. Toimie grounds.
Victoria vs. Nanaimo, Jubilee Hospital grounds.
Cowichan vs. Vancouver, Beacon Hill grounds.

By a sensational victory yesterday over Vancouver, Victoria assured its appearance in the final of the Pacific coast tournament to-morrow, the victory, by the narrow margin of eleven runs, being won amid considerable enthusiasm. Cowichan scored another success, and promised a hard fight to-day against Vancouver to compete in the final. These three teams are equal in the standing for honors, each having won three matches and lost one.

The best finish of the day was undoubtedly that between Vancouver, Nanaimo and the Victoria team, each team recognizing that the possession of the trophy greatly depended upon the efforts put forward. There were occasional flashes of brilliant bowling and fielding and the batsmen gave no chances. Cowichan's dismissal of W. York was a beautiful piece of work. Cowichan bowled well. The final score, which details follow, was 28 to 156.

PORTLAND TO ENTER HOCKEY CIRCUIT

New Westminster, Aug. 28.—The close approach of coast hockey will start enthusiasm within the next few days, when the fans will be able to get a line on the proposals of the magnates operating the "organization." Whether New Westminster will be in the league is as yet an open question. Early in the summer it was proposed to eliminate the royal city on account of the cost of the team, last winter compared with the poor returns. At that time it was reported that Seattle would be included in the circuit, thus making the league a four-team one, which would include Victoria, Vancouver, Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash. The Portland rink will be ready in October.

The Seattle proposition, however, is said to have fallen through, for this season at least. A meeting of the league will probably be held within the next two weeks, when it will be decided whether New Westminster will have a franchise in the league or not.

CANOE RACE AT GORGE.

ATHLETICS STRENGTHEN.

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—In preparation for the numerous double headers on the schedule of the Philadelphia American league team, Manager Mack has signed two new pitchers, Jensen, of the New Haven team of the Eastern association, and Stricker, a former tri-state player who has been with the Chambersburg, Penn., team. He also recalled Catcher McAvoy from the Baltimore International. The injury sustained by Catcher Lapp on Thursday left the local team with only Sturgis, a youngster, to assist Chang in the receiving end.

HOMERUNS WERE COMMON YESTERDAY

Seattle Makes It Three Out of Four From Victoria Ball Team

Seattle made it three out of four in a wild slugging encounter at the ball park yesterday afternoon, the final score being 9 to 6, with three-quarters of the runs being chalked up on home runs. Exactly seven circuit clouts were registered during the battling matinee, and it would have been necessary to call the game in the ninth had another ball been lifted over the fence because of the shortage of cork centers. Kelly was decidedly lucky to get away with the clash. Had Victoria been able to send a pitcher to the mound who could have held the enemy within reason the Bees would have won. Then again, had the Bees been able to bunch their blows, they would have taken the contest, the locals out-hitting the Giants only to have seven runners stranded on the bases.

Chapman started for the home club but was taken out in the second after Seattle had accumulated two runs and a brace of hits off his alleged split-ball. Smith allowed two runs in this period and in the fifth Seattle broke loose with three homers and a single, counting four runs, enough to put the game on ice. Victoria kept plugging away, but failed to connect in the pinches. The locals out-hit Seattle, collecting thirteen hits, including three homers, triple and a double. Kelly had a lot of smoke, getting ten strikeouts, and he issued but one pass.

Calvo started at bat with four singles, his one-handed stab in left field of Huhn's long drive being the fielding feature of the afternoon. Nye and Hoffman had three hits, including a homer apiece, while Driscoll had a pair of safeties. Killlay and Cadman drew three hits each, Swain getting a homer and a single.

LORD AYLMER'S SCHEME.

To the Editor: If you can spare me a small space in your paper I would like to remark on Lord Aylmer's suggestion re bringing German prisoners to Canada and placing them on the land to farm, etc. If he was serious I would like to tell him I think he made a terrible mistake in publicly expressing such an idea, especially at this time. I do not know anything of the gentleman other than this but I cannot help wondering what is his reason for wishing to favor the Germans to such an extent. We cannot help this feeling of deep sorrow and regret for all the misery that follows in the train of war, and we would sympathize in a practical way, but please remember that charity, or rather, our duty, begins at home. If there is a way and means to do as he says, I believe we would have no difficulty in filling a good deal of this undeveloped land with perhaps thousands of our own people. We have these brave fellows who are fighting for us at the present moment, who perhaps will be unable through some reason or other to follow their trade, or whatever occupation they formerly had, then we will have the young lads and girls, orphans, at the age when they will be expected to help support themselves, their mothers, and the younger family; why not place some of these on the land under capable instructors? They would soon be able to assist their homes far more than if working in the cities of the old country, or even the dominions, and later their whole families could join them. We know the open, healthy life would make them far better men and women, and would we not also have the satisfaction of knowing the loyal British blood flowed in their veins, making this Dominion what every true Briton to-day would have it? I like F. Webb, feel deeply sorry that the mothers and wives of our sailors and soldiers in this city should have had the opportunity of reading anything so absolutely thoughtless, so say the least of it, as Lord Aylmer's letter. F. E. G.

TO MEMBERS OF FIRST AID CLASSES.

To the Editor: Kindly allow me space for a few words to the 300 or more members of the emergency first aid classes recently meeting in the Temple building or elsewhere. Some well-known members of one of the classes have been asking for subscriptions from all other members with the object of giving a present to one who has done valuable service at this time. Now, I wish to suggest that giving of presents to anyone at all, no matter how hard she or he has worked in connection with the first aid instruction classes, is entirely out of harmony with the spirit prompting those who arranged, and the majority of those who have been attending, these classes. Further, it does not appear to me to be a fitting way in which to show appreciation of the good work of any who doubtless have been prompted to give their services at this time solely from a desire to help for the common good. So I venture to suggest that the giving of presents under existing conditions be discouraged. Those of us who have a dollar, or even twenty-five cents, to spare, can easily find a better purpose for its use than to offer reward where none is expected. E. JACOBS.

DUTY.

To the Editor: What is a man's duty? That is the question that is taking all our attention during these days. When each man is wondering whether he ought not to volunteer for the front, it is not a question of whether we are willing or not, but rather whether our duty lies at home or with the troops abroad. Happy indeed is the man whose duty lies clear before him so that he cannot make a mistake. But how many of us are situated in that position? We are willing to make sacrifices, but we have dependents and are we justified in making them suffer? Now that the first contingent of troops is leaving, the men who are going are being received with shouts of praise and joy, which, of course, is only right and just, but what of those who, bound by their conception of their duty, stay to guard us here? Surely all honor is due to them; and yet people seem to think that they should be at the front, and one hears, "Oh, haven't you gone with the boys?" or "I thought you would be sure to go to the front." All of which is delightful to listen to and makes a man feel that the path of duty is not always easy. Perhaps the hushing touch is when the children in the streets call out to a man in uniform, "Gee, there's one man that hasn't gone to the war." We all know that there are lots of men who have wives and families to support, and that, judging by past experiences, that there will be great enthusiasm to support the same family while the war is on, but when the war is over and the breadwinner does not return, or perhaps returns disabled, then who will look after the family? These are the men who should stay behind. Surely any man that has people to support has literally no right to go at present. Later, if it is necessary, everyone will go, but the duty is for the single men to go first, and though the others stay at home yet they are training to defend us, and many of them had to leave their families who are now in want. What are we doing? Are we making any effort to help? We have committees and meetings, but what have they accomplished? Surely the time the help is needed is now. There is, too, a thought that this help is in the form of charity. Perhaps the government could give each married man an adequate separation allowance, as part of his pay, and thus remove any feeling of that sort. The Dominion government is paying the militia. Let the provincial governments pay a separation allowance and receive all private subscriptions to lessen taxation. Every man would infinitely prefer his family to be looked after in this way than to be dependent on the kindness of a few of the workers for the cause.

That every man will do his duty as he sees it is a foregone conclusion. Are we not British? But we must beware that we do not let our enthusiasm blight our sense of duty. To the man with no dependents who is physically fit, the way is easy, but to the man with dependents it is a different story. His duty lies at home at present, but the time may come when even he will be wanted, and then we know there will be no repining. Just the usual British readiness to "face the music," and the women of Canada will be called on to make their sacrifices. It is hard to lose a husband or a son, but better that by far than that he should remain when the country has need of him to fight her battles and preserve her honor unimpaired.

How Victoria's New Waterworks Pipe Is Being Laid to Sooke Lake

The picture on the right shows the workmen laying the steel pressure pipe in the trench on Burnside road. Since the photograph was taken the pipe has been satisfactorily tested and the engineers have begun filling in the earth. The section, four lengths of pipe rivetted together, shown raised above the trench in the picture, weighs 3,700 lbs., and since the photograph was taken, has been tied up at a bell hole, whose dark shadow appears in the trench, with the portion shown already laid in the foreground.

The view on the left shows a section of the concrete flow line being placed in position on the Humpback road. The engineer standing on the pipe gives his level to the laying gang, who lower the heavy lengths into the trench. The holes shown in the top of the pipe are afterwards cemented up as the work proceeds. About five miles of this class of construction has been completed.

FIRST THINGS

The first town in what is now the United States, St. Augustine, Fla., was founded 319 years ago to-day, August 28, 1565. More than half a century before Juan Ponce de Leon had landed near St. Augustine, and had planted a cross and took possession in the name of the Spanish monarch. Some years later the French built a fort and planted a settlement in Florida, and a Spanish expedition was sent against them. Don Pedro Menendez de Avilla arrived from Spain with an expedition on August 28, 1565, and built a fort, which he named St. Augustine, as he had reached Florida on the festival of that saint. After giving chase to four French vessels, which escaped to sea, Menendez returned to St. Augustine and made it his headquarters in his campaign against the French. In September he attacked and massacred the French settlers of Laudonniere at Fort Caroline, few of them escaping his wrath. Ribault was sent against the Spanish but was driven ashore by a tempest, and another massacre followed. In 1567 Menendez returned to Spain, having established forts at St. Augustine and eight other places in Florida. In 1763 St. Augustine was taken by the British, but was returned to the French, and hoisted the Stars and Stripes in 1821.

A net increase of over a million sterling is shown in the treasury receipts return for the first quarter of the financial year—i. e., April 1-June 30—as compared with the first quarter of last year. Customs were up by a quarter of a million, excise by over £200,000, and the postal service by £130,000. Death duties showed an increase of over £200,000.

Through Difficult Country

The above picture shows waterworks construction under the grade crossing of the Canadian Northern Pacific railway near Sooke river. The syphon across the river has now been completed. The section depicted is a portion of the concrete flowline pipe, from the lake to Humpback reservoir, recently laid by the Pacific Lock Joint Pipe Company.

La Marquise de Fontenoy

The Right Hon. Walter Runciman, who has just been appointed minister of commerce with a salary of $25,000 a year, in succession to John Burns, who resigned from the Asquith cabinet on England's declaration of war against Germany, is one of the principal owners of the Moor steamship line, of which he controls the business. Forty-four years of age, he first came into prominence as a politician by defeating his friend Winston Churchill, then a Conservative, in 1891, at Oldham, where Churchill secured a smashing victory from him just twelve months later.

The Runcimans hail from Scotland, and although one of them was president of the Royal Scotch academy at the close of the eighteenth century, the father of Walter Runciman may be described as a self-made man. For he went to sea, the age of twelve, worked up through all grades, from ship-boy to master mariner, and founded the steamship concern known as the Moor line, and also the great shipping firm of Runciman & Co. A brother of this Walter Runciman was James, the literature and journalist on the staff of the London Mail and Gazette in the days when Lord Morley of Blackburn was its editor. It was at his uncle James Runciman's house that the newly-appointed minister of commerce made the acquaintance and became the friend of Robert Louis Stevenson.

As being a man who can boast of having had two grandfathers fighting in the battle of Trafalgar and who prizes as his most valued treasures the medals which they won on that occasion under the command of Nelson, the new minister of commerce is devoted to the sea, and fond also of everything else of the sport of yachting. There is no doubt that if he had had his choice of office he would infinitely have preferred becoming the first lord of the admiralty. That his former Conservative adversary at Oldham, Winston Churchill, should have obtained the post merely goes to show that in spite of their being political enemies of the same Liberal administration, there is still a certain amount of rivalry between them.

Walter Runciman, besides being one of the richest members of the present administration, is an excellent speaker, gifted with a keen sense of humor, and a very un-English quizzical character. Thus, when one of his constituents attempted to heckle him on the question of the disestablishment of the state Episcopal church in Wales and commenced, "Now, sir, at this moment I have a school in my eye," Runciman quickly interrupted him at that particular point with, "No! 'Parliament' only one pupil," and thus turned the laugh to his own advantage upon the heckler that at once subsided.

Married to a daughter of J. C. Stevenson, chairman of the River Tyne commissioners, and former member of parliament for South Shields, he is next heir to the baronetcy of his wonderful old father and namesake, Sir Walter Runciman, whose radicalism is of such an advanced and vigorous character that he often accuses his son of weak-kneed moderation, notwithstanding the fact that as a cabinet minister he is forced to observe a certain amount of discretion in his political activities.

It is only fair to Sir Ernest Shackleton to mention that on the declaration of war, and on the order for the mobilization of the navy reserve, he, as an officer thereof, offered his own services, and those of his entire Antarctic expedition, with his ship, the Endurance, to the admiralty, unconditionally. The admiralty in reply sent a letter to Sir Ernest expressing their appreciation of his offer, but saying that it would not be necessary to take advantage thereof, as it had called upon the officers and crew of the expedition, recommending him to carry it out as projected.

It was only after having obtained this intimation from the admiralty, and after being received in formal farewell audience at Buckingham palace by King George, who presented him with a Union Jack to carry across the south polar continent and to be handed back to him on the return of the expedition, that Sir Ernest sailed on board the Endurance from Plymouth for Buenos Ayres, en route to the Antarctic.

If I place this on record, it is because there are some who may feel surprised that Sir Ernest should have left England at the time when it was involved in war with both Germany and Austria. There are both German and Austrian exploring expeditions now at work in the Antarctic.

One of the most astonishing appointments is that of Prince Gregory Troubetzkoy, chief of the Near-East division of the department of foreign affairs in St. Petersburg, to the post of the czar's plenipotentiary at Belgrade, in the place of Nicholas von Hartwig, who died in such a tragic fashion, of heart failure, at the Austrian legation in the Serbian capital, a few days before the break in the war, falling very suddenly dead while engaged in conversation with General Baron Giesl, the envoy of the dual empire. For Gregory Troubetzkoy, who spent many years as a councillor of the Muscovite embassy in Berlin, and as a diplomat in the service of the czar, was a man of great ability and energy, and was a close friend of the late emperor.

About this time last year, indeed, he published a very remarkable article in the German papers, over his official signature, therefore presumably with the sanction of his official superiors, in which he pointed out that the export and import trade of Germany with Russia was almost twice that of Russia with England, and that all this commercial intercourse would be suspended in the event of war. He likewise demonstrated in a very plausible manner that even if Germany were to be victorious in a war with Russia, and were to obtain the so-called Baltic or German-speaking provinces of the czar, it would be but a sorry and altogether inadequate gain against the loss of the Russian markets to her trade; while it would subject her to the necessity of still more costly armaments in order to defend the provinces acquired, against the determined efforts of Russia to recover possession thereof.

Mr. Prince Gregory also shows that Austria's share in the spoils of victory could only be Russian Poland, which, added to that portion of Poland which is already subject to the Austrian crown, would result in the constitution of a Polish province almost as big as the former kingdom of Poland, and which, with its nationalistic aspirations, could not but prove a source of danger, both to Austria and to Germany. Germany, he argued, had therefore virtually nothing to gain, but everything to lose, by throwing in her lot against Russia, rather than with Russia.

The prince's article created an extraordinary sensation, and was construed by many as indicating a desire by the Russian government for a rapprochement to Germany even at the cost of her understanding with England. But apparently Germany did not respond to the prince's suggestion; and that is why she now finds England and Russia arrayed in war against herself and Austria.

Gregory Troubetzkoy belongs to one of the oldest princely houses of Russia; one indeed to which the Romanoffs owe their crown as czars. At the beginning of the seventeenth century the Muscovite Boyars assembled at Moscow elected Dmitri Troubetzkoy, the general to whom more than any one else the repulse of the Polish invasion was due, to reign over them as emperor. It was only after he had declined the honor, that, on his nomination, Michael Romanov, the founder of the now sovereign dynasty of Russia, was elevated to the throne of the czar.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

TO-BORN IN CANADIAN HISTORY

William Lyon Mackenzie, one of the leaders of the Canadian rebellion of 1837, died in Toronto fifty-three years ago to-day, August 28, 1861. "The Papineau of Upper Canada" was in many ways a man of unusual and remarkable brilliance. He early became prominent in politics, and was elected the first mayor of York, now Toronto, in 1834. Years before that he had been a prominent figure among the "progressives," but his radicalism alienated many of the moderate reformers, and his claim to leadership was as Dr. Gordon Ryerson, the distinguished Methodist clergyman and writer; Robert Baldwin, and Marshal Spring Bidwell, in the assembly, which then became largely Tory. Mackenzie was very aggressive, and the majority took advantage of a technicality to oust the leader of the Radicals from his seat. He was upheld by his constituents, in York, a Radical stronghold, and was four times re-elected, and as many times expelled. He appealed to the government, and the colonial secretary upheld his contention that his expulsion was illegal. Still the majority continued in its attitude of defiance, and its lawlessness was Mackenzie's responsibility for not a little of Mackenzie's extreme radicalism in later years. In 1834 he received a letter from Joseph Howe in England in which it was asserted that Canada's troubles could be settled only by "freedom from the baleful domination of the mother country." Mackenzie's subsequent career indicated that he accepted this view, and in 1837 he printed in his paper, "The Constitution," a "reformers' declaration of government," in which he openly opposed the government. After the brief insurrection Mackenzie fled across the border, where he was arrested and imprisoned.

HUMAN PROCESSION

Charles Seymour Whitman, district attorney of New York and now a prominent figure in the politics of the Empire state, is a native of the Nutmeg state, and was born at Norwich forty-six years ago to-day. Before the young official who gained an international reputation as the foe of New York's underworld was educated at the beginning of the nineteenth century, and in the public school of Berea, O., where his father was a Congregational minister. He worked his way through the university by teaching. From his youth he manifested tendencies toward becoming a reformer, which was not strange, since he can trace his ancestry back to a Congregational minister at Salem, Mass., in 1655. Devotion to Congregationalism has long been a family trait of the Whitmans, but the district attorney is a Presbyterian.

Mr. Whitman succeeded William Travers Jerome, of Shaw trials fame, as district attorney of New York county on January 1, 1910. He was re-elected last year by the vote of the Democrats, Fusionists, Progressives and Independent Laborites, his only opponent being a socialist. Before that he was in turn assistant corporation counsel, member and later president of the board of city magistrates, and judge of the court of general sessions by the appointment of Governor Hughes.

"The Palms"—First Guest—"I'm sure I don't know why they call this hotel 'The Palms.' I've never seen a palm anywhere near the place." Second Guest—"You'll see them before you go. It's a pleasant little surprise the waiters keep for the guests till the last day of their stay."—"Royal Magazine."

HELD REQUIEM MASS

Bishop of Victoria Extolled Life of Late Pope Pius at Cathedral This Morning.

Impressive services were held this morning at St. Andrew's cathedral, when pontifical requiem high mass for the late Pope Pius X. was conducted by the Right Rev. the Bishop of Victoria, assisted by Mr. Rev. Father Letourneau, vicar-general, Father MacDonald, Father Benson, and Father Silver, the last named acting as master of ceremonies.

The sanctuary and pulpit were heavily draped with crepe, and the whole service was very dignified and solemn, the stately Gregorian chant being rendered by the choir, led by Mr. German, with Benedict Bantay at the organ.

At the close of the more formal part of the service Bishop MacDonald addressed the large congregation which had assembled to pay this last tribute to the memory of the deceased pontiff.

In his eulogy the bishop extolled the late head of the Church of Rome both as man and as pope, pointing out, in the former respect, the simplicity and faith in the unseen which had characterized the holy father.

In his work for the church Pope Pius had been unflinching as a man of action. He set himself to restore all things in Christ, he taught the doctrine of discipline, for only through discipline, he had maintained, could a man attain to godliness.

In matters doctrinal he had striven against rationalism, and had labored to restore faith in Christ. Before Pope Pius there had been no canon law in the Church of Rome; one of his greatest works had been to codify canon law. He had, moreover, ever pointed to the great fact of regeneration, the re-birth of mankind, who should be born again as the children of God.

In concluding the bishop asked earnestly for the prayers of the congregation for the great leader who had been taken from the church.

A portrait of the pope, which, draped with crepe, has stood for the past week at the entrance to the bishop's palace, Victoria street, was removed after the services at the cathedral this morning.

CONSIDER LAND SCHEME

Development Association Committee Hears Assistant Horticulturalist of Agricultural Department.

Although Deputy Minister Scott was unable to attend the meeting of the committee of the Victoria and Island Development association this afternoon at which the land scheme was discussed, he sent the assistant horticulturalist, W. H. Robertson, who was able to give the committee some advice and information on the land settlement scheme. He also brought a copy of a bulletin on "What can be grown on a city lot," which is ready for printing now. The department of agriculture has promised to prepare two city lots for demonstration purposes.

The committee was called together to hear the wholesalers give some advice as to the marketing of products, a difficult matter with local producers. In the past because of the lack of uniformity in packing and grading. The committee had before it a number of applications for land, and also a list of the lands available for leasehold under the system now before the committee.

The commissioner is calling for bids for the ploughing of some fifty vacant lots, and also for a list of prospective users of breed stock in the way of sows and ewes, which it is proposed to ask the government to introduce.

PIONEER BUSINESS

MAN OF CITY DIES

Late James Muirhead Came to Victoria 53 Years Ago; Was Well Known Citizen

The death occurred yesterday, at the late residence, 527 Esquimalt road, of James Muirhead, one of the pioneer business men of the city. A native of Glasgow, Scotland, he came out to this country while still quite a young man, arriving in Victoria 53 years ago, and in conjunction with Mr. Bruce, who later went to California to live, starting a business as cash and door manufacturer, on Yates street, on the site now occupied by the King Edward hotel.

On the retirement of Bruce from the business, James Muirhead entered into partnership with Mr. Muirhead, the company shortly afterwards building new premises on Wharf street, near the present Canadian-Puget Sound Lumber Company's building, where they carried on business until within a few years ago when both partners retired. The firm was not without its reverses, as one of twice the business was nearly demolished by fire, but, after reconstruction, the work was carried on as usual.

The late Mr. Muirhead was at one time a member of the local Order of Odd Fellows, but in recent years dropped out of this organization. On his first arrival in the city, before going into business for himself, he was foreman for Grahamshaw & Morris, contractors of Yates street.

When the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society was one of the strongest Scottish organizations in the city, Mr. Muirhead was well-known as one of the leading members of the society, and was also well-known among St. Andrew's Presbyterian church congregation, of which he was a member.

In addition to his widow, two sons, John, of the land registry office, parliament buildings, and James, an accountant in the city hall, survive, as well as two daughters, the Misses Agnes and Gertha Muirhead, both of whom live at the family home, Esquimalt road.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Witness and Coroner of Opinion That Mrs. Noel Came to Her Death by Taking Headache Tablets.

A verdict of accidental death was returned this morning by the jury investigating the circumstances surrounding the sudden death of Mrs. J. F. Noel, of Stanley avenue.

The chief witness to-day was Dr. Hudson, who was called to the bedside of the deceased yesterday, arriving after the patient was dead. The physician held a post mortem examination, and found that the stomach contained a chocolate-colored fluid. It appears that Mrs. Noel had taken some small headache tablets containing acetanilide before retiring, and the coroner agreed with Dr. Hudson that death was due to heart failure brought on by the taking of these tablets.

The coroner in his charge to the jury spoke warningly of the danger of taking proprietary drugs.

JAPANESE SAILORS ASHORE

Sir Richard McBride Meets Officers and Fire Department Entertains Men; Visitors Looked Over City.

Leave was granted to about 350 of the sailors of H. I. J. M. S. Idzumo today and cars specially provided by the B. C. Electric Railway brought them up to the city. The visitors walked all over the city, usually staying together in groups of from 12 to 20, and appeared greatly interested in what was undoubtedly for many their first glimpse of a Canadian city. As on the recent visit of the two Japanese training ships the men occasioned favorable comment on account of their splendid size and physique.

Sir Richard McBride met Captain Mariyama and some of the other officers at the C. P. R. docks.

The Japanese sailors were shown a demonstration of pommy ladder work on the drill tower and the use of the aerial ladder by the city fire department at one o'clock. The exhibition was greatly appreciated, and the visitors showed the keenest interest in the work of the firemen, particularly in their aptitude with the pommy ladders.

Prior to this display a number had visited the central station, and had been shown over all the motor apparatus, evincing the keenest interest in every detail of construction of the modern equipment now in use. They asked numerous questions and the thirst for information proved at times difficult to satisfy. The Japanese colony, through Mr. Ischi, had made the arrangements with Chief Davis for the display.

This evening Sir Richard and Lady McBride and the officers will attend the performance at the Variety theatre.

ESQUIMALT SEWER WORK

Craigflower District to Be Attended to Next; Consult Ottawa About Blasting.

The Esquimalt council has communicated with the naval department at Ottawa as to the advisability of proceeding with the letting of the sewer contract for the village section of Esquimalt adjoining the navy yards. Whether or not permission is granted, the council has decided to undertake as soon as possible the work of sewerage in the Craigflower district. There is about five miles of sewer required for this neighborhood and when the engineer's plans and specifications are ready tenders will be asked at once. The work is mostly dirt work, there being very little necessity for blasting. In the village, on the contrary, the work would be all blasting.

Misunderstanding in Registration.—Because his Stutz car was registered as an Ideal car (that being the name of the makers), E. J. Cameron appeared in the police court this morning charged with unlawfully driving a motor along a highway such motor not being registered and licensed. When Mr. Cameron explained everything satisfactorily, Acting Magistrate Prior dismissed the case.

CRUCIAL DAY OF THE CRICKET TOURNAMENT

On Results of To-day's Matches Largely Depend Next Owner of Cup

The fifth day of the Pacific Coast cricket tourney opened under excellent weather conditions. The day was once again perfect for cricket, and the pitches at all the grounds hard and fast.

Wickets were pitched in the Victoria-Nanaimo match at the Jubilee hospital grounds this morning at 11:15 in order that the players might have an opportunity to witness the departure of the overseas contingent.

Nanaimo started very badly and had lost three good wickets for eighteen runs within a very short time. Jepson and Ismay were both caught at five and six trying to cut W. Cook, while Leighton was clean bowled after he had scored three.

Ward, however, kept his wicket up by careful batting, and a stand was made with Batty, who played a free innings of 22 before Collison removed his wicket.

Johnston followed, but did not stay long. Collison again removing the balls with a swift one. Westwood then joined Ward, and with two shots past cover and a brace of fine drives to the boundary, set a better pace in the scoring. Lunch time came with Nanaimo 55 runs for the loss of five wickets.

W. York bowled finely in the early part of the innings, and at one time had three wickets for eight runs. Collison secured two for ten, while Carstairs was somewhat unlucky, an almost scraped dismissal off Ward's wicket on two occasions.

ALL WHEAT OPTIONS HAD LARGE DECLINE

Prices Rallied From Extreme Low With Sales Returning

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, Aug. 28.—Early decline in wheat was 3 cents for September, 4 cents for December, and 4 cents for May. This figures at 10 cents under high point of the trade. There was at one time 2 to 3 cents recovery from extreme low, but the heaviness returned again late in the session, although bottom prices were not again reached. Feeling in the trade is more normal than for many days.
Corn trade acted in line with wheat rather than on any special news, although Kansas and Missouri had splendid rains and their run of corn was sufficient to cause weak and lower cash markets all around.
Good activity in oats trade, with rather sharp break first hour and strong rally from 49 cents to 50 cents in December.

whatsoever may be before them. Whilst our men will be fighting at the front our nurses will be doing strenuous work in the base hospitals.

For the Navy.

"For the navy there is a special branch of nursing, the members of which form Queen Alexandra's Royal Naval Nursing Service. The members are obliged to be fully trained (three years) nurses. Foreign service is obligatory. The members have to show not only the usual certificate of training, but also several favorable reports from matrons; they must have some administrative capacity, and also show a general fitness to take charge of wards in naval hospitals immediately under the medical officers. In the time of peace the number on this reserve is 250. There are three divisions, known as the A division, the B division, and the C division. The A division is called up first, and already all those who belong to it are in their billets in the various naval hospitals. These billets are all settled in time of peace, so that directly there is an emergency they are called upon and sent straight away to their destination. Probably a fortnight after the calling up of the first division the second is called, and the third is called out later as required. What will probably be done is that nurses on the regular staffs of the naval hospital will be put on our hospital ships, and the Naval Reserve nurses will fill their places. The wounded will be brought back to our home hospitals as fast as possible so that the work at home is likely to be very heavy. If the entire number of reserve nurses is inadequate to the needs, the admiralty already holds dozens of promises from fully qualified nurses who are now in the great hospitals all over Great Britain, but eager to go to the assistance of their countrymen."

"These are the three nursing services attached to the army. Then come the volunteer branches, where the majority of the members are not fully trained nurses, but who all understand first-aid and home nursing, invalid cooking, laundry, and hygiene. The British Red Cross can raise something like 55,000 men and women if need be. The special work of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, Voluntary Aid detachments and the British Red Cross society is improvisation, and on this account they may prove to be of incalculable value in war time, when it is quite impossible for enough stores, of all kinds to be forthcoming.

First Aid Nursing Yeomanry.
"Another voluntary body of women who are fully prepared to go to the seat of the trouble if necessary is the First-Aid Nursing Yeomanry corps, which has about fifty mounted nurses. They have not only trained in first-aid, nursing, and all necessary field sanitation, but can do everything for their horses. They have had some experience of military manoeuvres with the troops at Aldershot, and stood the fatigue of a field day spent in the saddle without a break with admirable sang froid.

Red Cross Society.
"The British Red Cross society has developed rapidly during the past year. Originally Red Cross societies were only used in foreign service. But now scope has widened, and the society has now two definite branches of work: One, to be an auxiliary force to the Territorial army; the other, to send relief to foreign countries in the event of war. They would fill in the communicating lines between the front and the base hospitals in home defence. The army authorities have made arrangements to provide plenty of people, fully skilled in nursing, to go with any expeditionary force that may be sent abroad. But these nurses must, of course, work with the army wherever the battle takes place. After a long march perhaps another fight occurs, when the wounded from the former engagement must be left uncared for or only very scantily supplied with nurses. It is there that the British Red Cross would find its work—coming up from the rear and looking after the wounded who are left behind."

Rest Stations.

At home, in the event of a fight the Red Cross and the Voluntary Aid detachments would practically only do work at rest stations and on the communicating lines between the front and the base hospitals. At the front would be the Army Medical Corps, who would deliver the wounded to the voluntary nurses and doctors ten miles from the front, where rest stations would have been arranged. These would be mostly schools, large houses, etc., commandeered for the purpose and fitted up as temporary hospitals. The wounded would be taken in, those only slightly hurt patched up and sent back to the fighting lines, and the severe cases sent back to the base hospitals. It is this intermediate service which will be done by the voluntary workers, and there is no reason to doubt that it will be well done.

Improvised Shelters.

"All over the kingdom for months past the Red Cross society has been practicing turning bare institutions into hospitals. Hay carts have been made into good ambulances by means of stretchers, which are slung to prevent the jolt being felt to any great extent; stretchers have been made out of a couple of poles and some strong cord; shelters from rain and sun have been put together with amazing rapidity, the only materials used being poles and lengths of material. The entire training of the Voluntary Aid detachments and the British Red Cross divisions has been based on the idea of making something out of nothing, a most valuable art in war-time."

Club Lent For Work.

It is interesting to know that the Automobile club, Pall Mall, has placed part of its magnificent premises at the disposal of the society, and James Caute, F. R. C. S., who practically founded the first-aid lectures in London, is giving emergency first-aid and home-nursing lectures at the Polytechnic, Regent street.

The windiest region of the world of which we have any knowledge appears to be the coast of Wilkes Land, where Doctor Mawson's expedition recently spent two years. Mawson's records at Adelle Land for 1912 showed an average wind velocity throughout the year of about forty-eight miles an hour, whilst velocities of one hundred miles an hour were common.
